ITALIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Nov. 9.—The conference of British, French and Italian representatives has resulted in the creation of a permanent inter-allied military committee. New leadership for the Italian army has been provided. General Cadorna, who has been in supreme command of the Italian army since the beginning of the war, has been given a place on the new committee.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
LEARNED WIRE TO TRIBUNE
ROME, Nov. 9.—Franco-British troops have arrived at the Italian front.

This welcome information was revealed today in the announcement that Premier Lloyd George and other British officials were at the front inspecting the allied reinforcements.

The arrival of the allied forces strengthens the belief that the crucial battle is to be fought along the Piave river, where, along the east bank, combined formation with the new arrivals is possible through the delayed arrival of the enemy.

The official announcement adds that the fighting line now extends over a front of less than forty miles and that several bridges over the Livenza river have been blown up.

This announcement convinces military experts that the bulk of the German forces has not yet crossed the river.

General Cadorna's army today occupied the most natural and best fortified region since the beginning of the retreat through the Friuli plains.

To the left and north one wing of the Italian army is hastening to take up excellent positions behind the upper Brenta. This line, military critics say, will connect with the center and right wings of the Italian forces to be massed along the Piave. From the rear British and French reinforcements in artillery and infantry are being rushed to the scene.

EFFECTIVELY DETAIN ADVANCE OF ENEMY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The Cadorna army is valiantly and effectively detaining the advance of the enemy, according to official despatches from Rome. The general impression in the Italian capital is that the war operations on the Italian front must be viewed with confidence.

The withdrawal of the army from the Tagliamento was protected by General Digioria, a distinguished military leader, and by some units of the Third army. The withdrawal continues under the protection of these troops.

No sign of disintegration has appeared in the Italian ranks, according to the despatches. The morale of the troops has improved to such a point that General Digioria's army has launched some effective counterattacks.

BERLIN, Nov. 9 (British admiralty, per Wireless Press).—The Austro-German forces in northern Italy, overcoming the resistance of the Italian rear guards, are advancing toward the Piave river, the war office announces.

The communication follows: "The Livenza river has been crossed. The allied (Austro-German) armies, overcoming the resistance of the Italian rear guards, are advancing ceaselessly on mountain roads and on the plain, in driving snow and pouring rain, toward the Piave."

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FLANDERS, Nov. 9.—Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria has not yet recovered from the tremendous punch just administered by British troops in the capture of Passchendaele. There have been no counterattacks to date. Apparently Tuesday's blow—the enemy too kroggy.

From documents on captured officers, however, it was learned Hinder-

General Diaz Is First in Command of Italian Army

New heads of the Italian army have been named. General Diaz has been appointed first in command, with General Badoglio second and General Grandino third.

General Foch, chief of staff of the French war ministry, and General Wilson, sub-chief of the British general staff, will serve on the inter-allied committee with General Cadorna.

RELIGION IS SOLE ISSUE IN DIVORCE SUIT

Christian Science is made the direct issue in a divorce suit commenced by Ralph Lohman, well known in the bay region, against Mrs. Grace Lohman.

Miss Grace Holt, one of the prominent Holt family of Oakland, whose holdings in the Holt Manufacturing Company, producers of the caterpillar tractors being used on the tanks on the western front have brought its members into the millionaire rating.

The case is perhaps the first on record in the West in which adherence to Christian Science doctrine is made the basis of a divorce suit, although it is not the first in which religious differences have been made a basis for pleas for separation.

Mrs. Lohman is a believer in Christian Science. Her husband demanded that she utterly renounce her faith in Mrs. Eddy's doctrine and her practice of Christian Science tenets. This she refused to do. It is said by friends of the couple that this was the only cause of difference. It is said to have repeatedly threatened to bring suit if she continued to maintain her faith in Christian Science.

ADVISED AGAINST BRINGING SUIT

Lohman, according to friends of Mrs. Lohman, sought the advice of several prominent attorneys, but all advised him against bringing suit for this cause, and suggested that a reconciliation might be effected.

One prominent member of the San Francisco bar whose advice was sought has been frequently mentioned as a gubernatorial possibility. He is said to have regarded the case as being too full of "dynamite" for an embroiled candidate.

The case of Lohman was finally taken by Frederick W. Peabody, of Boston, who was at one time connected with the Christian Science Church in Boston, but who became involved in a controversy with the Christian Science leaders, and has for some time been actively engaged in a propaganda against the doctrine. He has become known as a professional anti-Christian Science lecturer.

PEABODY BROUGHT OUT TO CONDUCT CASE

Peabody has been brought out from the East by Lohman and was recently admitted to the California bar. He has filed suit in Lohman's behalf against Mrs. Lohman in San Jose.

The case promises to be the occasion of some bitterness, as Peabody is known as an antagonist of the faith held by Mrs. Lohman, who will use every possible point to make her adherence to it a sufficient basis for the divorce action. Mrs. Lohman has retained Stanley Moore to represent her and will oppose the action of her husband.

An interesting legal battle, in which all the precedents for religious differences being made a cause of separation, will be gone into by the attorneys.

Mrs. Lohman formerly lived with her parents in Jackson street in this city. Her father was one of the founders of the Holt Manufacturing Company, which, before the war, manufactured only farm tractors. Since the war it has filled enormous contracts with the allies for the caterpillar tractors used in the "war tanks," and for the tractors used in the transportation of big guns and supplies on the western front.

Lohman was also raised in Oakland, and has relatives living in the east bay cities. The case will be followed with interest by east bay society. The case holds fair to assume nation-wide importance.

EX-CHIEF ACCUSED

PARIS, Nov. 9.—By order of the military governor of Paris, a formal charge today was preferred against Jean Leymarie, under the law providing against commerce with the enemy and complicity with others charged with the same offense. This is looked upon as one of the most important developments thus far in the Daudet-Maly affair. Leymarie was chief assistant at the ministry of the interior under M. Maly, and later he was acting head of the State secret service.

CIVIL WAR NOT TO RIDE RED OVER RUSSIANS

Passive Resistance Expected to Be Policy Chiefly Followed by Radicals Asking War End

HEAVIER BURDEN PUT ON AMERICA

Chief Problem Has Been the Return to Homes of Many From Armies Raised by Czar

By William C. Shepherd,
United Press Staff Correspondent.
(William C. Shepherd has represented the United Press at Petrograd since before the beginning of the war, and his studies of the revolutionary situation have been the most illuminating commentary on Slav affairs that have been received in this country. Shepherd reached New York today. The following is his commentary upon the Petrograd situation and may safely be taken as authoritative.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—If Kerensky succeeded in getting away from Petrograd and establishes a government in Moscow, I firmly believe he will be able to carry enough of the army with him to keep up a semblance of war—and that is the best we can ask of Russia at this time.

There will be no civil war in Russia—aside perhaps from some street fighting in Petrograd.

There are two kinds of soldiers in Russia—those who want to fight and those who don't—and it is just as hard to get the latter to fight the former, as it is to get them to fight the Germans.

The czar mobilized too many men. He put twenty million men in uniform. The great problem facing Kerensky in October was how to get some of these men back to their homes. Every time there is a change in government at Petrograd, the geographical area over which the incoming government has control is reduced until now the new alleged government of Russia which has replaced Kerensky is governing only Petrograd alone.

RUSSIA REUNITED LOGICAL OUTCOME

In Russia there are vast forces at work, quietly and often in an underground way. But they are bringing Russia together. As far as the Bolsheviks are concerned, we may as well look the facts squarely in the face.

The average Russian soldier who does not want to fight is a Bolshevik—not because of the theories of Socialism, but because the Bolsheviks are against the war.

If this Bolshevik happens to be a peasant—then he is a double Bolshevik and he not only is unwilling to fight but unwilling to remain at the front. He wants to return home and get his piece of land.

Behind Lenin and Trotsky there are hundreds of thousands of Russian soldiers who will welcome any talk of peace.

If Lenin and Trotsky make a separate peace it will be a separate peace for only a portion of the Russian army which has been poisoned by the Lenin doctrine.

Petrograd is very likely to fall anyhow. The Germans will probably get Helsinki within a short time and then they will cut the Finnish railway which connects Russia with Sweden. But even if we have to say goodbye to Petrograd, this does not mean that Russia is gone.

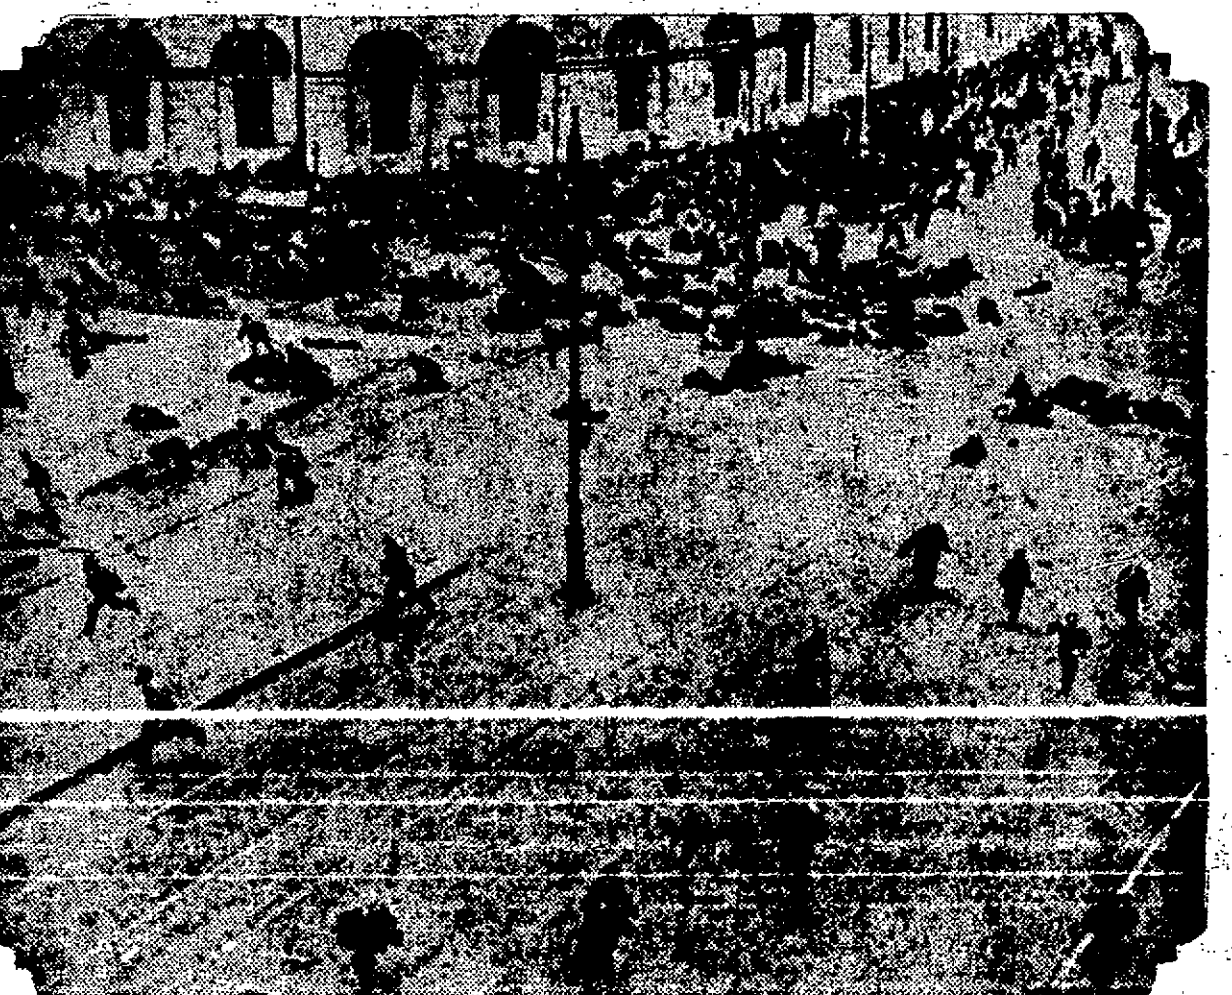

AMERICA'S BURDEN IS LARGELY INCREASED

The thing that impresses me most on my arrival here—and particularly in view of the latest news from Russia—is that we of America will have to carry the load. It will fall more and more heavily on us.

It was the Germans who poisoned and paralyzed Russia. The greatest piece of diplomacy in the war was achieved by the German who first worked out the scheme of permitting Lenin to pass through Germany into Russia.

WHEN RUSSIAN REVOLUTIONISTS GO ON RAMPAGE

Scenes in Petrograd during recent uprisings: Guns mounted in the public library were fired at crowds in the open square; the top picture shows the people fleeing, leaving many dead and wounded in the street. Below is a photograph of Russian women agitators on parade, an uprising laid to the prompting of German spies.

Freedom of Kerensky Is Still Hoped

BY UNITED PRESS
LEARNED WIRE TO TRIBUNE
WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The Russian embassy was tremendously encouraged by the report from Petrograd that the Kerensky government was taking a stand against the Bolsheviks.

The embassy regarded as "highly improbable" the Stockholm report that Kerensky had been arrested.

"This is the first direct report of an encouraging nature we have had from Petrograd," said Secretary Sookine of the embassy, "and the Stockholm rumor must be considered as unauthentic and highly improbable."

Sookine said he was still without official advice from the provisional government, and that fact alone gave the embassy concern. The embassy reiterated that it was their belief the defection was purely local and confined to the Petrograd Soldiers' and Workmen's Council.

A report of the refusal by two Cossack regiments to obey the provisional government's orders does not impair Kerensky's authority seriously, stated the embassy.

FEW CAN ESCAPE U. S. Loans To Russians Are to Halt

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 9.—The German military authorities continue the practice of putting into the army persons living in Germany who have lost their original citizenship without acquiring German nationality. A new order says that former nationals of foreign states, including former Americans, will not be employed with the front line troops, but must serve in the armies of occupation or elsewhere behind the front. This applies to German-Americans who returned to Germany to live after being naturalized in the United States. The children of such parents are liable to service in the trenches in case they have not completed the necessary steps to obtain American citizenship.

U. S. Loans To Russians Are to Halt

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—While the present turmoil continues it is unlikely that the United States will advance any more money to Russia, officials said today. Credits previously extended and which have not been exhausted by purchases made here also will be held up.

The money heretofore advanced was given to the Kerensky organization. Now that it has been overthrown there is no disposition on the part of the United States to furnish any additional funds that might eventually find their way into the hands of Germany.

It is understood here that in any action along this line the United States will have the co-operation of Japan. Most of Russia's supplies at the present time are being sent from Japan by Vladivostok and practically unlimited credits have been the Russians by the Japanese. Naturally this will be stopped for the present.

Trotsky Denies Arrest of Cabinet Officials Is Revenge, But for Trial on Sedition Charge

BULLETIN WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.

The State Department has the unofficial word this afternoon that Kerensky has escaped and is rallying an army in his support at the front.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEARNED WIRE TO TRIBUNE
AMSTERDAM, Nov. 9.—The Rheinische Westfälische Zeitung of Essen, Germany, published a Stockholm telegram saying that Premier Kerensky has been arrested.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Conflicting reports reached here today on Premier Kerensky. One report from German origin said the young leader had been captured by forces in sympathy with the Maximilians and that he would be taken to Petrograd. Another report stated that Kerensky had reached Moscow.

The All-Russian Council announced today at Petrograd that Kerensky's last appearance was at Catchina, near Petrograd, on Wednesday, when the former premier addressed 8000 soldiers and persuaded them not to march on Petrograd.

President Trotsky of the Petrograd Soviet stated that the new regime proposed to try all members of the Kerensky government on the charge that they were conspirators in the Korniloff revolt.

A telegram reaching Amsterdam from a German source and forwarded by the Central News says the Russian army on the northern front has joined the Maximilians and is marching on Petrograd.

Several transports from Kronstadt arrived in Petrograd Wednesday carrying sailors who previously had sided with the provisional government, says a despatch to the Dally News from Petrograd.

KORNILOFF COUP COMING TO TRIAL

PETROGRAD, Nov. 9.—The military revolutionary committee has decided to bring General Korniloff, leader of the recent revolt, and his supporters to Petrograd and imprison them in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul. They will be brought to trial before a military revolutionary tribunal.

At a meeting of the Congress of Soldiers' and Workmen's Deputies last night a member of the revolutionary committee said that on Wednesday Premier Kerensky at Catchina, thirty-five miles (twenty-three miles) from Petrograd, addressed 8000 soldiers who were on their way from the front to Petrograd. After a conference the soldiers decided not to proceed for the time to Petrograd.

BATTALION OF DEATH FIGHTS FOR PREMIER

Leon Trotsky, president of the executive committee of the Petrograd Council of Soldiers' and Workmen's Delegates, explained that the arrest of certain members of the Kerensky government was not an act of vengeance or political repression. He said all the members of the late government would be tried for complicity in the Korniloff movement.

Petrograd is almost normal today, with the new revolutionary govern-

ATTRIBUTES RUSS BREAK TO GERMANS

BERKELEY, Nov. 9.—"Do not let us forget that the Slavs as a group are with the allies. That is true of the Poles, and the Serbs-Croats-Slovenes and of the masses of Russians."

So declares Dr. Ludwik Ehrlich of the department of political science at the University of California. Ehrlich said today:

"It is self-evident the long arm of Germany is responsible for the separate peace made by Russia last night. If there is any foundation in the report, it is a result of organized German activity." He says the Maximilians are probably greatly exaggerating their successes. "Do not let us lose our heads over this situation. An unwavering, calm, firm support of the government and of the European allies with a firm belief in final victory, with a firm determination to secure it at all costs—that ought to be the answer to the Germans and their Maximilian allies."

BOY INJURED BY TRUCK.
Nephi Jones, the 9-year-old school boy, whose hip was broken by being run over by a truck last night, is reported recovered from the shock. The boy was picked up in the street, the truck having proceeded on its way. It is thought that he was stealing a ride and that when he fell from the truck and was run over the driver knew nothing about it. The boy's home is at 334 Henry street.

ment in control and maintaining order. The change has been accomplished practically without bloodshed. The woman's battalion of death, charged with defense of the Winter Palace, held out to the last and only surrendered when literally overwhelmed by the Bolshevik troops and menaced by enough guns to blow up the whole palace. For four hours the women bitterly fought off all advances. Then the cruiser Aurora was brought up the Neva and her great guns trained on the attackers. The Bolsheviks anticipated a clash with the Bolsheviks and detached a number of units to come to the capital. He was en route to meet these troops when he received word of the Bolshevik success and fled toward Moscow.

Confirmation was obtained last night that the former ministers of the provisional government who were arrested by the military revolutionary committee have been incarcerated in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul. The confirmation was given by the commissioner in command of the fortress who requested the Associated Press correspondent and personally explained to him details regarding the ministers.

The cabinet members, he said, were all arrested at the Winter Palace after its surrender Thursday morning. They were taken to the fortress, where they were placed in solitary confinement, but are courteously treated.

It was impossible at this hour to ascertain what the casualties were in the Winter Palace battle, although they are reported not to have been many. The fighting proceeded, with the rival forces alternately in possession of the huge piles of wood stored in the palace, a part of the city's winter fuel supply.

The glare of an arc light illuminated the positions of the forces in the palace while the rest of the city was in almost total darkness, this condition increasing the visibility of the flames from the guns of the cruisers on the horizon which gave warning of the speedy bursting of shells.

stripped of most of its historic art objects, was completely denuded of its tapestries and paintings. This was while the provisional government was still in control of the palace. The art treasures were taken to places of its selection.

The correspondent, who was with a party of soldiers and workmen's delegate forces for a short distance from the great archway leading into the plaza, did not see any of the shells take effect upon the palace. In it, as also in the admiralty and other office buildings on the other side of the square, lights were still shining from the windows at midnight. Occasional crashes as if of falling walls indicated that perhaps other structures had been hit.

The populace for the most part remained indoors. A few of the curious peered around the corners, while thousands of the Maximilian troops and sailors from Kronstadt gathered around the fuel piles at advantageous spots awaiting their turn in the battle.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If Your Back Is Aching or Bladder Bothers. Drink Lots of Water and Eat Less Meat.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In twenty-four hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been found for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and headache.—Advertisement.

Meantime, the Canadians are confidently sojourning in the village. PARIS, Nov. 9.—German attacks against Lechaume wood, in Lorraine, and in the Arracourt sector were all repulsed by French troops. The office reported today. The Lechaume wood attack was the most violent of the attempts, being preceded by a heavy artillery bombardment, but the enemy here, as at other places on the line, was thrown back with very heavy losses in dead, wounded and prisoners.

"We carried out with success last night surprise attacks in the Argonne and on the left bank of the Meuse, in the region of Avocourt Wood and brought back prisoners," the war office announced today.

"The Germans made two attacks after violent bombardment, one on our positions at Chaume wood (Verdun front), the other in Lorraine, in the region of Arracourt. These assaults were repulsed. The enemy suffered serious losses and left prisoners in our hands."

"In Upper Alsace one of our detachments entered the German trenches northwest of Belfort, in the region of Seppois. After exploring the positions, destroying shelters and capturing material, all our men returned to their lines."

INTENSE FIGHTING IN AIR IS REPORTED

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The war office tonight issued the following statement on aerial operations:

"During Wednesday morning low clouds and rain considerably hampered the artillery work in the afternoon conditions improved, and some successful artillery and photographic work was carried out by our airplanes. Our low flying machines fired many rounds at hostile troops and transports and a number of bombs were dropped on enemy trenches and billets."

"During the night more than three tons of bombs were dropped on enemy airdrome at Gontode and St. Denis Western and on airdromes in the valley of the river Lys. Railway communications also were bombed and satisfactory results were observed. One hostile airplane was driven down out of control. An enemy observation balloon on the ground was destroyed today by one of our low flying machines. One of our airplanes failed to return."

The whole Turkish army in Palestine is in retreat, General Allenby, commander of the British forces there, today reported to the war office.

More than forty guns have been captured by the British forces. The Turkish left is falling back on Hebron, which is one of the oldest cities in Biblical towns. It is situated on a hill among the mountains of Judah, about sixteen miles southwest of Jerusalem.

Arrival of British and French troops, gay, confident and sure of themselves, has had a tremendously stimulating effect on the Italian fighters, according to a London despatch today from Reuters' correspondent at General Cadorna's headquarters.

Protest Transfer of East 14th-St. Fund to Waterfront

Demand That City Officials Stand by Agreement Made in January

Voicing the sentiment of 2000 property owners and taxpayers of their section, representatives of the Melrose Business and Improvement Club, the East Oakland Protective League, the Fitchburg Improvement Club, the Fruitvale Board of Trade and other affiliated organizations met with three of the City Commissioners, and two members of the Board of Supervisors, at Melrose Hall last night and entered an emphatic protest against the proposed transfer of $25,000 from the development program on East Fourteenth street to the harbor dredging fund.

The meeting was remarkable in the spotlight that developed upon extraneous matters of public interest. Chief among these was the admission forced from the city officials that their department had been misled to the expenditure of $100,000 for the improvement of East Fourteenth street, and his refusal to assure the assembled delegates that he would carry out the implied obligation. The refusal was made in the face of the pledges of Commissioners W. H. Edwards and F. F. Morse that they understood and approved the agreement which in its terms bound the supervisors to the expenditure of an additional $100,000.

AGREEMENT MADE BY BACUS.
The agreement in question, according to Supervisors Charles Heyer and Fred Foster, was made between former Commissioner of Streets William J. Bacus and the supervisors, that East Fourteenth street should be improved at an expenditure of $300,000. Of this amount the supervisors were to give one-third, the other two-thirds to be divided between the City of Oakland and the property owners. Pursuant to the agreement, the supervisors passed a resolution approving the move, under terms of a letter submitted by Bacus in January, 1917, and announced their readiness to appropriate the money.

"I have never heard of any such agreement," said Soderberg.
Soderberg declared that it would take him several days to look into the matter and decide whether or not he would abide by the agreement. A committee consisting of G. A. Janssen, J. H. Theis and L. B. Magson was thereupon appointed to wait upon the commissioner prior to November 15.

That the proposed transfer of the $25,000 already laid out in this year's budget for preliminary work to the harbor dredging fund was for the benefit of work on the Union Construction Company's project was generally understood at the meeting. Assurance by Superintendent of Streets Perry F. Brown that preliminary work on East Fourteenth street would not draw upon this fund did not satisfy the assembled delegates. It was openly intimated that defiance with this fund would work a possible revocation of the supervisory appropriation, and the complete tie-up of the work.

WERE ASSURED OF WORK.
"We were assured by the city council two years ago that this work would be done and that they would appropriate $100,000 for the purpose," said President W. N. L. of the Melrose Business and Improvement Club. "When this year's budget was made up, there was no mention made of this, and only $25,000 was appropriated. Supervisor Heyer told us the council had not appropriated its share of the money because they were waiting for the city to do the preliminary work. As a result the matter has deadlocked."

"We have not been able to get materials for the work," explained Commissioner Soderberg. "Sand is especially hard to get."

"I am glad to hear you say that," interpolated W. R. Alberger, vice-president and general manager of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway, who was present in behalf of the traction interests. "I have been talking that for some time in connection with the difficulties the traction company has had in coming up to demands and now when you can't get a little sand you plead a shortage of materials."

CHRISTMAS GOODS HELD BY STRIKE

Christmas shoppers may not get some of the surprise Oakland merchants had in store for them, unless the present confusion in the freight docks, caused by the freight handlers' strike and the impossibility of securing Mexican and Chinese substitutes, is obviated.

While the produce shipments, brought into Oakland to the "Team Tracks," where trucks unload them, are being unloaded by the commission men themselves, between thirty and thirty-five cars of Christmas merchandise from the east are in the Kirkham-street yards and "Sunset sheds," with no available help to unload them. The trucks, freight must be carefully unloaded, checked and handled with greater care than the produce, and the present shortage in men makes this work impossible.

The goods held include drygoods, Christmas novelties and a small amount of foodstuffs, mostly Christmas delicacies. So far no relief for the situation is in sight.

pany is ready to go ahead with standard paving," said Nicholson. "They say they have plenty of sand."

Commissioner Edwards, who remained at the meeting only a few minutes, leaving the impression that he was working to kill the recall against Mayor Davis and had another meeting to attend, declared that the reason for the present switch of the $25,000 fund was a desire to bring a payroll of 2500 men to the western waterfront.

Understood that the city was to give the $100,000, he said, "I am for it. But not being able to get the material, we don't want the money to be idle."

Referring to the traction company's portion of the paving, General Manager Alberger declared that the company was actually unable to get rails on account of war demands on the steel plants and that no construction of a permanent nature in the center of the street would be possible until rails were secured.

"I wonder whether he will be unapologetic and a disloyal American for not doing the work," interjected Commissioner Soderberg.

Repeated requests by various members of the different organizations addressed to Commissioner Soderberg as to whether he would agree to take up and ratify the agreement made by his predecessor, brought forth the response.

"I am not prepared to say. I must think it over." The delegates gave him two weeks.

Commissioner Morse was clean-cut in his statement on the issue.

"If the city has gone to the supervisors and made this agreement, then I am in favor of standing by the agreement. I have never been able to figure out just why that $25,000 was appropriated."

Pending their appearance before the city council, the committee appointed by the organization is going into the legal phases of the council's right to transfer the mysterious $25,000, the reason for the existence of which, save as a sop to sectional sentiment, has not been explained. They will also look up the original proceedings under which the council is alleged to have approved the Bacus program.

SCHOONER IS SAFE

Fears for the safety of the schooner Marston, which was a number of days overdue at Melbourne, Australia, have been allayed by word of the vessel's safe arrival there received by her owner, W. H. Marston, 1500 Arch street, Berkeley. The Marston is now loading wheat at Melbourne for Portland, Ore. Marston said that the schooner Winslow, of which he is part owner, has been waiting for several months. The Winslow left Sydney, Australia, on May 24, bound for Apia, in the Samoan Islands, to load copra to be shipped to a Berkeley oil works. Since leaving the Australian port the Winslow has not been heard from. The Winslow was a four-masted schooner of 600 tons and carried a crew of ten men. She was valued at $70,000.

NEW PREMIUMS TO GO INTO WAR FUND

All new life insurance premiums received from the first of this month until the close of the war by the Fidelity Life Insurance Company will be invested in United States war loans, announcement was made today by B. P. Shapiro, agency supervisor for the San Francisco district, whose offices are in the Union Savings Bank building here. Shapiro received word of the new policy of the company from President W. A. Day in a letter from the home office in New York today.

The letter calls attention to the great sacrifices that are being made by American citizens in the cause of democracy and urges "ardent, enthusiastic and active war support for the government." The company is planning to issue leaflets "Hello Sam's Message to You" and "Edith Cavell—Her Patriotism and Yours," in the near future. The letter closes: "To assist you in influencing such patriotic action and as a part of our war service, you are authorized to say to applicants that every dollar of our income from first-year premiums received from insurance issued from November 1, 1917, to the end of the

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—"Should Daniel C. Smith appear and claim any portion of my estate on the ground that he is my second husband, I will be as generous with him as he was with me when he deserted me in October, 1911. I will leave him two pairs of old shoes."

This is the clause in the will of Mrs. Carrie E. Fabian Smith, pioneer of San Francisco and leader in the work of the Daughters of the Confederacy, filed here for probate. The estate, valued at $8000, is left to a son, Luther C. Fabian, and a daughter, Mrs. Doretta L. Lichen, of Chicago.

"Therefore every new premium paid will be, in effect, a loan to the government to help win the war."

FATHER DECLARES CHILD DRUGGED

Declaring that his daughter had been made the victim of designing persons John R. Noyes, father of pretty 17-year-old Bertha Noyes, Technical High School student who was located in San Francisco last night after being missing for twenty-four hours, threatened today to invoke the law to its full extent in seeking punishment for her alleged captors.

Following the return of the girl, who was located in a lodging house on the other side of the bay, her parents refused to allow the police to interview her. Captain of Inspectors Harry Green stated today that unless the parents ask for a formal complaint the police will take no further action in the matter.

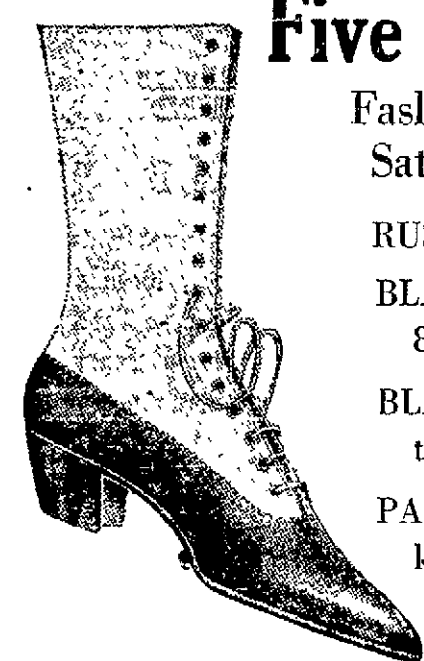

Noyes said that his daughter is in a serious condition and that she had been drugged.

"I know who was responsible for her leaving home that way," said Noyes. "The police will be asked to investigate. But if I get hold of the man first—well, you know."

Friends of the family yesterday gave the parents clues which lead to the girl being located. According to the police, Bertha had not been attending her classes at the evening school regularly since she enrolled.

PLANS TAKEN TO CAPTURE SPIES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The government is about to deny cable communication with neutral countries to a number of persons in the United States, including some American citizens, on the suspicion that they have furnished information to the enemy on military, naval and commercial operations.

Telegraph and cable companies, it was stated today, will be given lists of individuals who have been under surveillance, with instructions to refuse transmission of their messages.

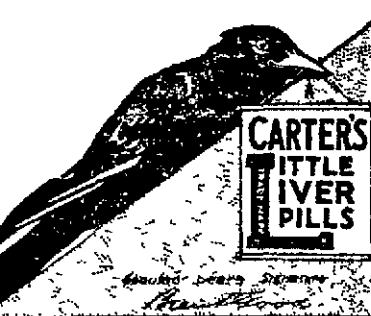

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—An official in the United States service is under arrest as a spy in connection with the United States mails containing important ordnance plans sent from Washington to the Bureau of Ordnance there. The plans were tampered with, according to information which reached San Francisco.

The plans were sent to Hamilton from Washington last May and arrived at the island in the latter part of June. It was discovered that the documents were in one mail sack and the covering in which they had been mailed in another. The wrapper was addressed to the Army and Navy.

Safeguards Health of The Children

Constipation, or inaction of the bowels, is a great menace to health. Castor oil, or purgative remedies should never be given to children as the violence of their action tends to upset the entire digestive system. A mild laxative is far preferable, and the combination of simple laxative herbs with pure sugar as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and sold in drug stores for fifty cents a bottle, is highly recommended. This preparation contains no opiate, narcotic, or habit-forming drug of any description, and is mild and gentle in its action and brings relief in an easy, natural manner. Its pleasant taste appeals to children and they take it readily. Thousands of mothers have testified to the merit of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in countless homes it is the standard family remedy. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 456 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

Your Liver Is the Best Beauty Doctor

A dull, yellow, lifeless skin, or pimples and eruptions, are twin brothers to constipation. Bile, nature's own laxative, is getting into your blood instead of passing out of your system as it should. This is the treatment, in successful use for 50 years—one pill daily (more only when necessary).

FOR LUMBAGO

Try Musterole. See How Quickly It Relieves. You just rub Musterole in briskly, and usually the pain is gone—a delicious, soothing comfort comes to take its place. Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Use it instead of mustard plaster. Will not blister. Many doctors and nurses use Musterole and recommend it to their patients. They will gladly tell you what relief it gives from sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite, colds of the chest. Always dependable. 30 and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

For Itching Torture

There is one remedy that seldom fails to stop itching torture and relieve skin irritation and that makes the skin soft, clear and healthy. Any drugstore can supply you with zemo, which generally overcomes all skin diseases. Acne, eczema, itch, pimples, rashes, blackheads in most cases give way to zemo. Frequently, minor blemishes disappear overnight. Itching usually stops instantly. Zemo is safe, antiseptic liquid, clean, easy to use and dependable. It costs only 35c; an extra large bottle, $1.00. It will not stain, is not greasy or sticky and is positively safe for tender, sensitive skins.

The House of Clocks

by Anna Katherine Green.

"Anabella, there is something I ought to tell you. I have tried to find the courage to do so many times before now but have always failed. Tonight I must." And then he made his great disclosure—how unknown to his friends and the world, he was a widow when he married her, and the father of a living child.

"You a father? A father already?" she cried, all her sweetness swallowed up in unutterable wrath. "You whom I expected to make so happy with a child! I curse you and your brut!"

"He strove to placate her, to explain. But rage has no ears, and before I realized my own position, the scene became again tempestuous. That her child should be second to another woman's seemed to awaken demon instincts within her. When he ventured to hint that his little girl needed a mother's care, her words were tempered with scorn.

"I am speechless before it and had not a protest to raise when she declared that the secret he had kept so long and so successfully he must continue to keep to his dying day, that the child he had failed to own his first wife's lifetime should remain disowned in hers, and if possible be forgotten. I started from my chair, and sought to glide away before I should hear him utter a fatal acknowledgment.

But the movement I made unfortunately drew their attention to me and after an instant of silent contemplation of my distracted countenance, Frank said, as though he were the elder by the forty years which separated us:

"You have listened to Mrs. Postlethwaite's wishes. You will respect them, of course."

"That was all. He knew and she knew that I was to be trusted but neither of them ever knew when my child came, and was welcomed as though it were the first to bear his name. It was a boy, and their satisfaction was so great that I looked to see their old affection revive. But it had been blotted at the root, and nothing could restore it to life. They loved the child but there their feelings stopped. Towards each other they were cold. He was a child in a thousand, and as he developed, the mother especially, nursed all her energies for the purpose of ensuring for him a future commensurate with his talents. She associated all the boy's prospects with money, great money.

Temptation came her great temptation—a temptation to which she yielded, to the lasting trouble of us all. Of this I must now make confession though it kills me to do so and will soon kill her."

Violet held her breath to listen. Possibly the doctor, hidden in the darkest corner of the room, did so also.

"I never knew how she became acquainted with the terms of her brother-in-law's will. He certainly never confided them to her, and as certainly the lawyer who drew up the document never did. But that she was well aware of its tenor is as positive a fact as that I am the most wretched man alive tonight. Otherwise, why the darkness descended into which she was betrayed when both the brothers lay dying among strangers, of a dreadful accident?"

"I was witness to that deed. I had accompanied her on her hurried ride and was at her side when she entered the inn where the two Postlethwaite's lay."

"We found the inn seething with terror and the facts worse than had been represented in the telegram. Her husband was doing. She had come just in time to witness the end. This they told her before she had taken off her veil."

"Take me to him," was the quiet command with which she met this disclosure. Then before any of them could move:

"And his brother Mr. Andrew Postlethwaite? Is he fatal? Injured too?"

"The reply was unequivocal. The doctors were uncertain which of the two would pass away first."

"You must remember that at this time I was ignorant of the fact of a poor child of whom I had heard only one mention, hanging in the balance at that awful moment. But in the breathlessness which seized Mrs. Postlethwaite at this sentence of double doubt, I realized from my knowledge of her that something more than grief was at prey upon her impetuous heart."

"They were lying in one room, her husband nearest the door the other in a small alcove some ten feet away. Both were unconscious, both were surrounded by groups of frightened attendants who fell back as she approached. A doctor stood at the bed-head of her husband, but as her eye met his he stepped aside with a shake of the head and left the place empty for her."

"The scene was significant. I saw that she understood what it meant, and with constricted heart watched her as she bent over the dying man and gazed into his wide-open eyes, already sightless and staring. Calculation was in her look and calculation only, and calculation, of something equally unutterable, sent her next glance in the direction of his brother. What was in her mind? I no longer knew for my dear young madam."

"Alarmed by the strength of my feelings I sought for a refuge from all eyes and found it in a little balcony opening out at my right. Had I only been content with my isolation? But no, I must look back upon that bed and the solitary woman standing beside it. A voice rose from the other Postlethwaite, saying: 'It is a matter of minutes now'—and then—and then—the slow creeping of her hand to her husband's mouth, the outspreading of her palm across the livid lips, the steady clinging there, smothering the feeble gasps of one already moribund, till the quivering form grew still, and Frank Postlethwaite lay dead."

"I saw, and made no outcry, but she did, bringing the doctor back to her side with the startled exclamation:

"Dead? I thought he had an hour's life left in him and he has passed before his brother?"

"I thought it hate—the murderous impulse of a woman who sees her enemy's mercy and can no longer restrain the passion of her long-cherished antagonism, and while smothering within me rebelled at the act I could not betray her, though silence made a murder of me. I too I vowed within myself never to reveal her secret. The man was dead or it was good as dead when she touched him and now that her hate was expended she would grow gentle and cool."

But I knew the worthlessness of this hope as well as my misconception of her motive, when Frank's child by another wife returned to my memory, and Bella's sin stood exposed."

"I said to myself, I alone know that the fortune now wholly hers, and in consequence her boy's, had been won by a crime. That if her husband had fallen in combat on her husband's side, she would have become owner of his millions, in which case a rightful portion would have been insured to his daughter, now left a penniless waif. The thought made my hair rise on my head, and I vowed I would make my first and last effort to rid my conscience of its new and intolerable burden."

"I know of what you are thinking," said she, and it is a subject you may dismiss at once from your mind. Mr. Postlethwaite's child by his first wife is coming to live with us. I have expressed my wishes in this regard to my lawyer, and there is nothing left to be said. You, with your close mouth and dependable nature, are to remain here as before, and I, in the same position towards my boy, as you did towards his father."

Oh though I succumbed outwardly to her demands, I had not passed the point where inner conflict ends and peace begins. Her recognition of Helena and her reception into the family calmed me for a while, and gave me hope that all would yet be well. But the hatred she had felt from the first for her husband's child ripened into fiercer dislike when she found her a living image of the mother whose picture she had come across among Frank's personal effects. She seemed to exult in the joy of impressing upon the girl how little she had missed a great fortune, and I have often thought, much as I tried to keep my mind free from all extravagant and unnecessary fancies that half of the money she spent in beautifying this house and maintaining art industries, and even great charitable institutions, was spent with the base purpose of demonstrating to this child the power of immense wealth, and in what ways she might expect to see her little brother expelled the millions in which she had been denied any share.

"I was so sure of this that one night while I was winding up the clock with which Mrs. Postlethwaite in her fondness for old timepieces had found the house stopped to look at the little figure toiling so wearily upstairs to bed, without a mother's kiss. There was an appeal in the small wistful face which smote my heart and possibly a tear welled up in my own eye when I turned back to my duty."

"Was that why I felt the hand of Providence upon me, when in my hall before the one clock to which any superstitious interest was attached—the great one at the foot of the stairs—I saw that it had stopped at the one minute of all minutes in our wretched lives. Four minutes past two! The hour, the minute in which Francis Postlethwaite had gasped his last under the pressure of his wife's hand! I knew it—the exact minute, I mean—because Providence meant that I should know it. There had been a clock on the mantelpiece of the hotel room where he and his brother had died, and I had seen her slip one stool towards it at the moment she withdrew her palm from her husband's lips. The stare of that dial and the position of its hands had lived still in my mind as I believe it did in hers."

JAIL SCHEME OF MEYERS UNDER PROBE

Further investigation of the underground methods by which prisoners in the county jail have obtained their liberty on probation after having paid Charles Meyers for "services" therein connected, has convinced District Attorney Hynes, who is in charge of the investigation, that some one or more of the jailers are in collusion with Meyers. It is the degree of culpability that attaches to the transactions and the alleged knowledge possessed thereof by Sheriff Barnett and Probation Officer Compton that will be made a subject of investigation in the grand jury, unless present plans meet something that causes them to be abandoned.

Admitting that Meyers had the "run" of the jail, as has been charged by certain of those who were confined therein, friends of Sheriff Barnett aver that Meyers had no influence with either the sheriff or the probation officer, but that he "sized up" the situation as it had to do with the applicant for probation, and whenever it seemed assured that probation would be granted approached the applicant and made the proposal to use his influence. It is pointed out that Meyers' apparent possession of open sesame to the jail made his claim of influence seem well justified, and that when the probation was granted Meyers' influence seemed a thing established beyond doubt.

Other slights on life in Alameda county's jail were evidenced today, and it was shown that prisoners are willing witnesses to the kindness shown them

FATHER WEEPS

The Barber divorce case furnished a sensation in Judge Quinn's court yesterday when Frank I. Barber, defendant and cross-complainant in the suit brought by Mrs. Barber embroiled his father-in-law, who broke down and wept when he heard damaging testimony against his daughter. Judge Quinn gave the decree to the husband on his showing that Mrs. Barber frequented dance halls and on one occasion, when she returned home late she broke in the door with an ax. Barber was given custody of the 6-year-old child.

by Sheriff Barnett and his staff. A number of the women in the woman's corridor have recently written letters to the sheriff thanking him for taking watermelons and the like which he has contributed for their enjoyment. One letter received by the sheriff is as follows:

"It is very unfortunate that I am here, but I want to thank you for the nice cakes and pies and the watermelons you send up from time to time. I only regret that you do not come up to visit us girls a little oftener. You have certainly treated me fine, and I want to thank you again for what you have done for me so far and what you will do hereafter."

The signature is withheld by the matron. Other letters were received in the same vein.

Sheriff Barnett said today that he is ready for the most thorough investigation the grand jury can conduct.

READJUSTMENT OF WAR WORK

The National Council of Defense has begun to concentrate its efforts, and where overlapping of authority or work is found, a readjustment is to be made. According to word received today from Washington numerous subordinate committees, many of which are found the names of some of the leading men of the nation, will shortly be dissolved and eliminated from government service. Director Gifford stated that arrangements have been made to perform these duties through the war industry boards and committees representing all industries essential to the government war supplies.

The belief here is that the change will not affect state or county organizations.

PENSIONERS NOT TO USE HOSPITAL

The county infirmary cannot continue to be made use of as a home for old soldiers who are in receipt of pension money from the government, according to the contention of County Social Agent Mrs. F. G. Harrison, confirmed by opinion of District Attorney Hynes today.

Mrs. Harrison says that in certain instances veterans have been regularly making application for re-admission to the infirmary after leaving it to go down town and spend their quarters allowance. She took a stand against the practice and sought to send the men to the soldiers' home and her position is affirmed.

Realty Men Resent Davie's Talk Will Voice Protest at Meetings

Formal protest against the attacks upon real estate men made in recent speeches by Mayor John L. Davie will be voiced tonight at a meeting of the Oakland Real Estate Board of the Oakland Real Estate Board, which is held at the headquarters in the Syndicate building, Wickham Havens, president of the organization, probably will be in the chair.

The meeting was called at the request of sixty members of the board, who circulated a "round robin" asking that action be taken expressing resentment at the charges made by Mayor Davie.

The mayor yesterday issued a statement that his remarks were not intended to apply to "all real estate men," but exclusively to Fred Reed.

The personal attack made by the mayor upon Reed has aroused the deepest resentment among his fellow real estate men, and especially the references made by Mayor Davie to Reed's physical infirmity. Mayor Davie's words, as taken from a stenographic account of his West Oakland speech, were as follows:

"Fred E. Reed came into the office of the chief of police and told me over the rail began to talk. He got so breezy talking to Mr. Edwards and myself that Mr. Edwards suggested to throw him out. I said, 'Throw him out.' We sent for the chief of police and when Chief Neiderman put 250 pounds behind him, he went out and never came back."

In the Municipal Auditorium speech two nights later, the stenographic report contains these references to Reed and real estate men in general:

"The president of the Harbor Protective League—men that are selected to protect our harbor—one Mr. Reed, a very distinguished real estate shark."

"Now these are the 'improvers,' backed up by these real estate sharks."

As I said to you a while ago, one of them came into the council, determined to break up our business. He brought a gang with him and came over and interrupted the proceedings of the council. . . . My friend and colleague stood up and said, 'Mr. Chairman, I move that Mr. Reed be thrown out.' And the chairman immediately instructed the chief of police to fire him out, and Mr. Reed, the president of the Harbor Directors' League, and the rest of the real estate 'sharks' slipped down the stairs on their way, and we have not had any more trouble with that class of people."

The following letter, signed by three score real estate men was the occasion of calling the meeting tonight:

To the Directors of the Oakland Real Estate Board:

Believing that the attacks on the real estate business by Mayor John L. Davie made in public addresses by John L. Davie are seriously detrimental to the welfare of the real estate business and the future of the city, we, the undersigned, do hereby formally appeal to the Oakland Real Estate Board, as the organization of this city bound to protect as well as advance the interests and welfare of the real estate business, to take notice of the mayor's utterances and to call a mass meeting of real estate men to express our righteous indignation and to take adequate measures to prevent further occurrences of a similar nature.

JOY RIDERS JAILED

Six soldiers bent upon a joyride landed in the city prison, where they were charged with being drunk, and today they are explaining the situation to their respective commandants.

When a report reached Lieutenant B. L. Curtis at the central station that the men were creating a disturbance at Thirteenth and Broadway he went there with Patrolmen Noble and Manning. The soldiers were just climbing into a taxi-cab. Lieutenant Curtis took charge and with a patrolman at each door of the car he drove them all to the station.

AT CENTENNIAL

Rev. E. C. Philles of Sacramento will preach Sunday at both services at Centennial Presbyterian Church, Twenty-fourth avenue and Boulevard. The pulpit is now vacant by reason of the resignation of Rev. H. E. Hays, who was called south.

The committee in charge of securing a new pastor has asked Rev. Philles to preach for the congregation Sunday. He is now pastor of Fremont Park Church, Sacramento, and is an able speaker.

Ask The TRIBUNE

9,000,000 TO
FILL SECOND
DRAFT BLANKS

More than nine million men will be obliged to fill out a detailed account of their personal history in response to the federal form blanks which have been prepared as preliminary to the second draft call according to regulations issued by Secretary of War Baker today. The regulations have been completed and will be officially issued within two days.

The principal change in the form places married men in the non-belligerent class. If a man is married and has no family dependents he will be classified as a non-belligerent. If he has dependents a living in their absence will be liable for service in the field. In the majority of cases all married men will be exempt unless the war should take a turn which would necessitate placing every able-bodied man in the country under arms.

In addition to the married non-belligerents are exempted from military service those who are official or religious judges, tend to make them exempt. Agricultural and munitions workers are at the bottom of the list. The revised law as it stands today permits of the classification of all registered men of proper age but of the drafting of 9,000,000 to fill the blanks. Special and reserve service classifications to enable the government to have a reserve army in readiness are, however, provided for.

Exemptions granted by the Federal District Board to medical and dental students in the University of California because of their professional education have been revoked by the adjutant general's office. Such exemptions, it has been held, must exist in the medical and dental reserve or so to training camps as drafted soldiers.

FIX NUMBER OF
OFFICERS NEEDED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The war department today advised commanding officers at the nine officers' training camps of the number of men who will be called into active service immediately upon the completion of their training November 27. The camp at Fort Sheridan, Ill., will furnish the greatest number, 1225, while Fort Niagara will furnish the least, only 403 being slated for immediate service.

The department indicated commissions would be issued to all those who successfully pass the examinations. Those who are not called into active service at once, however, will be placed on the reserve list.

All students commissioned above the rank of second lieutenant will be assigned to vacancies now existing in national army divisions. The second lieutenants commissioned for active service will be assigned to fill regular army vacancies.

The number of men to see quick service and their ranks at the Presidio of San Francisco today are 146 and includes eight majors, fifteen captains and 262 first lieutenants of infantry, two majors, thirteen captains and seventy-one first lieutenants of field artillery, eight second lieutenants of cavalry, field artillery, infantry, and seven second lieutenants assigned to the adjutant-general's department.

Little Mary McAlister in "Pants"

Can you imagine anything funnier than of a youngster who is all boy finding his clothes have been stolen while he was in swimming and a dress left for him to wear? Such a predicament occurs in "Pants," the feature now at the Franklin theater the rest of this week. The star, the only child sergeant, in the United States Army, is Mary McAlister. All her life she had wanted to have a chance to wear boy's clothes and play like other kiddies, when the golden opportunity arrives she grasps it with both hands.

You will live again delightful scenes of childhood with this romping lovable little girl. Completing this bill is "Casadey," a play with Dick Robson in the lead and depicting an incident of a star's last night in San Francisco, home-coming and broke.

SCREAMS ROUT BURGLAR
When Mrs. A. D. Bevan returned to her home at 723 Oakland avenue last night she confronted a burglar who was in the dining-room with the lights turned on, engaged in ransacking the place. She screamed and the intruder fled through an open window. He eluded pursuit.

HEADLIGHT LAWS TO BE ENFORCED

By Edmund Crinnion

As the result of having secured the State automobile headlight law relative to the meaning in connection with the use of headlight lens after a thorough study of the situation, Corporal J. G. Wallmann of the traffic bureau of the Oakland Police Department is now actively being called upon by other parts of the country to give the benefit of his experiences and assist in the opening of new test stations elsewhere.

First outside city to call upon Corporal Wallmann for help in getting started on right in establishing headlight testing stations is Livermore where the district attorney's office is to have opened a test station for the benefit of the motorists of the lower end of the county and also for the travelers that enter the county from the Alameda section from the interior of the state.

It is entirely among the probabilities that the county traffic officers will soon watch the state highway articles at night for the violators of the headlight law and with the advantage of a test station at Livermore there can be no question raised by any driver with glaring headlights without his being promptly arrested, being given the chance to prove his contentions to the arresting officer by driving to this convenient testing station. The establishment of such a station will undoubtedly do much to keep the glaring headlights menace off the roads of Alameda county and through the assistance of Corporal Wallmann in getting started on right in the matter it appears as though there will be no trouble in getting the co-operation of the motorists.

Oakland is the first city of the entire state to get the headlight law situation thoroughly straightened out. In many other cities the police test stations are still in the making. It is not surprising that many lessened steps to the fact that the law is being enforced better to the requirements of the law than the plain glass. That these other cities must follow Oakland's lead in the present is a foregone conclusion and it is already apparent that the other municipalities are looking to the Oakland police department for guidance in getting the right start and it is stated that a clearance card from the Oakland police to the district attorney's office is being secured. The superintendent of the Motor Vehicle Department has done nothing to help the motorists out of the situation, in fact, his advice to lift lamps only made matters worse as it resulted in confusion everywhere and led to the present situation that was the only way to conform to the state headlight law. The automobile organizations have as usual carried water on both shoulders and as in the recent cases where the rights of the motorists were involved they have been extremely busy in doing other things. It is therefore certain that Oakland will soon be called upon by practically all of the other cities of the state for assistance in the matter. The test station at Livermore is to be opened tonight and Corporal Wallmann, with representatives from the district attorney's office, together with lens experts, will make the drive early in the evening and be on hand to get things started right.

HUDSON TO RAISE.
There are a lot of people planning to buy Hudsons before the price advances, says H. O. Harrison, president of the H. O. Harrison Co., distributors of the Hudson in California. "They know that Hudsons will cost more and that the price will advance shortly, but they are waiting for a definite announcement. Before that time there is almost a certainty that our Hudsons will be sold, and after this announcement is gone we will have to get the new prices."

"The price saving that can be made on Hudsons now will actually buy all the gasoline that a man will use in an ordinary year of driving. A great many men are taking advantage of this opportunity. Some who planned to buy next spring have already ordered their Hudsons. They know that cars will cost more and that the chances of a price advance will be even greater than today."

NINE NEW MODELS.
The announcement of new Vellie models last Sunday reveals a very interesting line of nine body styles, including touring cars, roadsters, closed cars and a decidedly different speedster type. The new Vellie bodies exploit an original straight-line effect that is striking and very pleasing to the eye. There is no question but that this is the most distinctive in automobile circles toward closed cars of convertible type, suitable for all-year use, and Vellie has covered this field thoroughly.

The Sport car is novel in that the exhaust pipes are exposed and racing cars. There are individual steps into the low-hung body, and the victoria top over the rear seat adds an element of individuality so much desired in a speedster model.

The successful performance of Vellie Sixes the past year has precluded any change of consequence in the mechanical equipment of the car. The powerful Continental motor, Timken axles, disc clutch and other features of similar worth, have been retained and bettered wherever possible.

A review in detail of the new Vellie offering reveals a painstaking and intelligent solution of the needs of every buyer at prices well within the average, made possible no doubt by the exceptional scope of the Vellie organization.

BEAN CROP IS BIG

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—Bean crops throughout the world are so enormous that Great Britain is figuring on sending millions of pounds every month to Belgium. This is the first time since the United States Food Administration representatives here.

Bean prices, the commission continues, should decline as all of the armies of all of the allies are well fed, and there promises to be a big surplus in the market. In the same regard the trade throughout the country is fighting the war of the present price and is buying as few beans as possible.

The exportation of beans is now owing to the difficulties of shipment.

BOTANISTS, 'BEANS'

The California Botanical society will hold its regular meeting in the main hall, University of California, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Professor H. B. Kelsey, president of the society, assisted by Professor George Grady, will give a lecture on "Beans." The lecture will be illustrated by photographs and by the colored slides.

News from Labor Headquarters

Meetings to consider the attitude of the various crafts involved in the shipbuilding disputes about the bay will be held throughout the coming week to voice the attitude of the various crafts in connection with the recent offers of the federal mediation board. The boilermakers and shipbuilders met last night. The shipyard laborers will meet early next week. The men will take no definite action until their representatives, now in conference with the department of Labor, report on the situation.

Clock's helpers and dishwashers employed in local cafes and restaurants started preliminary plans for an organization at a meeting at the factory complex when John Altman, local organizer, outlined plans for the formation of a union. The aim of the new body will be to regulate wages and working conditions. Proposals to employers are shortly to be drawn up.

Members of the Butchers' Union Wednesday night discussed propositions, placed before them unofficially, for the changing of the "Meatless Day" to Thursday so that Wednesday, which is the week's principal market day, would not be affected by the proposed change. The arrangement, committees are to be named to take up the proposition.

$5000 VERDICT.
Mrs. Susan B. Don, an aged widow, received a $5000 judgment against the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway yesterday in Judge Waste's court. The jury deliberated several hours. The judgment was for injuries received as a result of being thrown from a University avenue car from which she was attempting to alight, the car having been started forward before she was down from the steps.

Rehearsals are being held at the Labor Temple for several entertainments to be given in the near future by Union Labor Leagues from local organizations, outlined plans for the formation of a union. The aim of the new body will be to regulate wages and working conditions. Proposals to employers are shortly to be drawn up.

Girls! Try it!
Have thick, wavy, beautiful hair

Every Particle of Dandruff Disappears and Hair Stops Coming Out.

Draw a Moist Cloth Through Hair and Double Its Beauty at Once.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after using "Dandruff" hair cream. It is a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair growing and downy at first—then really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely invest a few cents in a bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and just try it.

Save your hair! Beautify it! You will say this was the best money you ever spent.—Advertisement

Awaiting Motherhood

Women, almost without exception, are prone to nervous apprehension when on the verge of motherhood. A woman knows that however many people there are close or dear to her, she must face the crisis alone.

There is nothing to-day prepared for women at such a time that receives such an expression of gratitude as does the absolutely safe, tried and reliable preparation, "Mother's Friend."

By the use of this penetrating massage, the expanding muscles of the abdomen relax naturally when baby arrives. The nervous, irritable and tender skin beneath the skin is soothed; the tendency to morning nausea is avoided, and the expectant mother enjoys days of cheerfulness. The nights are not disturbed with nervous writhings and the crisis is one of great happiness and less pain.

Get a bottle from the drugist and write the Bradford Regulator Co., Dept. 2, 47 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga., for their interesting little book, "Motherhood and the Baby." It will be sent without charge to any woman who writes "Mother's Friend" is a wonderful help to nature and no woman should fail, by any chance, to apply it herself night and morning.

SHEEP TO 'MOW' WESTERN PARKS

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 9.—Little Bo-Peep may be seen in various sections of the Rocky Mountain National Park system next summer, if a plan being advocated by those interested in "conservation" programs is accepted. It is pointed out that sheep can be used to good advantage in the vicinity of Estes Park, as well as in the numerous municipal parks of Denver, for "mowing" lawns.

Great expense is involved in keeping the grass cut in Denver's beautiful parks and sheep are said to be excellent "lawn mowers." The city fathers of Denver have also been much impressed with the suggestion that such a service be rendered by dainty misses dressed as shepherdesses would greatly enhance the picturesque landscape.

News of the Churches

By S. M. Burritt, Church Editor

GERMAN RECEPTION.
Last Tuesday evening at the First German M. E. church, Thirty-eighth street and Telegraph avenue, was held a reception for Rev. H. F. Hilmer, missionary to India, who has just returned on furlough after seven years' continual service, having taught in Bangalore for three years of that time.

The four German Methodist churches combined in the reception. The program of the evening was in charge of the St. Paul's church, First church, Mrs. Chas. S. Hill, chairman, and was composed of music, reading and refreshments. The address of welcome was given by the Rev. SERMON SKETCH.
Rev. James B. Orr, pastor at Boulevard Congregational church, preached last Sunday evening the first of a series about our country. The subject was "Why Are We Religious?" Rev. Orr said in part:

"We, as a nation, are religious because the people who first settled along the Atlantic seaboard came in quest of religious liberty. We are part of the ten lost tribes of Israel, and we cannot help being religious.

"William Penn was shipped to America by his father, a Quaker, and in branching off from his father's religion and was exiled to America. He settled in Pennsylvania and started the Quaker movement. Dutch reform started in the settlement of New York. The Catholics came to Maryland. Roger Williams started the Rhode Island movement. The Congregationalists were Pilgrims who founded Massachusetts.

"These people were careful in the foundations of school, home and church along our seaboard. Why this longing for religious liberty?

"Why do the Gentiles take to the Old Testament as the Jews do? Why—we are of the ten lost tribes of Israel, and we are of spiritual inheritance, and so we all spring from the common Jew stock.

"The Jews were chosen by God as a people of redemption to fashion a world religion. They did the work and the church is a child of Mother Judaism. God raised up the Roman people to civilize a pagan world. They did so. The one thing the Greeks had to do was to fashion the most perfect language. To write the Bible in a language that would never change. They obeyed the inner inspiration and produced the language. It fulfilled its mission and is now dead.

Rev. Orr's subject for Sunday evening is "Why We Are An Educated People."

300 WAR FUND MEN WILL MEET

The local campaign in behalf of the national $35,000,000 "drive" for the war fund of the Young Men's Christian Association is gaining momentum hourly.

This evening three hundred workers will meet in the Y. M. C. A. building and pledge support in the campaign. Speakers will be the Rev. Albert W. Palmer, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at the Prohibitory, and James E. Sprunger, California campaign manager, who recently returned from service in the prison camps of Europe.

From the pulpits of the east bay churches the story of the service of the red triangle will be told by able speakers Sunday, "Y. M. C. A. Sunday," as it has been officially designated.

The Y. M. C. A. organization of the militant arm of the campaign is being rapidly completed at headquarters, tenth floor of the Syndicate building.

Joseph N. Burroughs, chairman of the speakers' bureau, has sent out an appeal for volunteer speakers who will carry the story of the Y. M. C. A. war work to theater audiences, to clubs, fraternal and wage earners.

Recognizing this service of the red triangle for the "boys over there," the women of Oakland are rallying to the support of the "drive." Mrs. Henry S. Manheim, division commander of one of the women's organization, announces that the following women will act as lieutenants: Mrs. Benjamin Mosbacher, Mrs. Irving J. Kahn, Mrs. George H. Lavenson, Mrs. Henry Z. Zelter, Mrs.

DENIES STORY OF VICES IN ARMY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 9.—Addressing the tenth International Purification Congress, which is in session here, Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett of Alexandria, Va., voiced resentment of criticism of moral conditions surrounding army cantonments.

Local officials, she said her investigations disclosed, were co-operating fully with army officials in protecting the moral surroundings of soldiers.

Of the soldiers themselves she said: "The soldiers are now anchored in the cantonments of the country are physically fit, fine, clean and strong, mentally and morally. Nothing is too good for them."

Among a number of messages read at last night's session was one from Secretary of the Navy Daniels. It follows:

"Today, as never before, American manhood must be clean. We must have fitness. America stands in need of every ounce of strength. We must out the twin cancers of drink and prostitution if we would quickly win this war. May America fear moral disease more than German bullets. Those who do the most for clean living and clean thinking do the most for the victory that will make a better world."

Stanley S. Kahn, Mrs. A. Gluckman, Mrs. Ralph Kaiser, Miss M. Marymont, Miss Beatrice Sapire, Miss Sylvia Salinger.

Kaun is a Russian journalist connected with the department of Slavic languages in the university. He is the author of "Russia Under Nicholas II," in which he predicted correctly the recent revolution. The lecture will be preceded by a series of lantern slide pictures illustrative of places and men prominent in the revolution.

Men of skilled trades and men without any trades are desired for enlistment by the United States naval reserve. In the trades, bakers and cooks especially are needed, and those of no special qualifications are desired to serve as firemen, seamen and hospital apprentices. Enlistments are for the duration of the war, and men from 18 to 58 years old are available. Applicants should go to the enrolling tent at Fourteenth street and San Pablo avenue, where S. J. Cutler is chief yeoman in charge.

Few Drops When Corns Hurt, Pain Stops! Corns Lift Out

Don't let corns ache twice! Lift any corn or callus off with fingers—Here's magic!

No humbug! Any corn, whether hard, soft or between the toes, will loosen right up and lift out, without any pain. This drug is called Freezone and is a compound of ether discovered by a Cincinnati chemist.

Put a few drops directly upon any tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly the corn or callus will loosen and can be lifted off with the fingers. Freezone doesn't eat out the corns or calluses but drives them without any irritation. Women! Keep Freezone on your dresser and apply a few drops whenever a corn begins aching. Pain stops, corn goes!

Calomel Today! Sick Tomorrow!

I Guarantee Dodson's Liver Tone

Don't take nasty, dangerous calomel when bilious, constipated, headachy. Listen to me!

Calomel makes you sick; you lose a day's work. Calomel is quicksilver and it salivates; calomel injures your liver.

If you are bilious, feel lazy, sluggish and all knocked out, if your bowels are constipated and your head aches or stomach is sour, just take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead of using sickening, salivating calomel. Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone, your stomach will be sweet and bowels regular. You will feel like working. You'll be cheerful, full of vigor and ambition.

Your druggist or dealer sells you a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents under my personal guarantee that it will clean your sluggish liver better than nasty calomel; it won't make you sick and you can eat anything you want without being salivated. Your druggist guarantees that each spoonful will start your liver, clean your bowels and straighten you up by morning or you get your money back. Children gladly take Dodson's Liver Tone because it is pleasant tasting and doesn't gripe or cramp or make them sick.

I am selling millions of bottles of Dodson's Liver Tone to people who have found that this pleasant, vegetable liver medicine takes the place of dangerous calomel. Buy one bottle on my sound, reliable guarantee. Ask your druggist about me.—Advertisement.

FURTHER TOWARD CHAOS.

Darker days have descended upon Russia. The Maximalists, the Bolsheviks, the cowards of the soldiery and the followers of the German agent, Lenin, have gained at least temporary control at the seat of government. According to reports, Premier Kerensky and presumably the entire provisional government has been deposed.

As to whose hands have been laid upon the ship of state in this tumultuous time and the character of the minds that are guiding the plots and counterplots, details are meager. But we do know that they are of the peace-at-any-prices, the disloyal, the selfish, the traitorous, the laffollettes of Russian politics and the hired agents of Russia's enemies. These elements have for the moment overcome those who put love of country above every other motive and who realize that there are things a thousand times worse than peace and drunken ease.

Disquieting and sinister reports from Petrograd during the last few weeks have warned the world that it might expect such news as this from Russia. Premier Kerensky has come safely through several crises and given on more than one occasion, after being called to the head of the provisional government, evidence of real powers as a statesman and leader.

But on the face of the record, as it stands in the news despatches from Petrograd, Kerensky also has committed grievous errors, perhaps fatal ones. His decision entirely to abolish capital punishment was the final stroke in the complete disorganization of the army. This destroyed the power of the officers to maintain discipline over the troops, the natural result of which was the aid of some units of the army and navy in putting the Bolshevik rebels in control of the government.

Kerensky appears also to have been guilty of intemperate action and speech. He admittedly made a mistake in the Korniloff affair, and it is now generally reported that this able commander was the victim of Kerensky inordinate carelessness. Perhaps the act of Kerensky most remarkable for carelessness was his remarks on the British fleet in connection with the German attack on Riga. When it is recalled that it is the British fleet alone which for three years has stood between Russia and complete disaster, that if the British fleet had not held the high seas nor a shipload of munitions or provisions would have reached Russia through the Baltic during this period, and that the British submarines have cooperated in a valuable degree with the Russian Baltic fleet, Kerensky's reference is simply inexplicable on rational grounds.

Yet the difficulties of the Kerensky government have been very great, and many decisions, especially that abolishing the death sentence, were made because members of the government would agree upon no other. With their heads in the clouds, the giddy, revolutionary idealists could not see the Prussian plotters nor the objects the latter were pursuing.

Russia is now experiencing her darkest hour since the overthrow of czarism. The long night of civil war and enemy exploitation seems for the instant to be upon her. A leader with the courage and the ability to control the fools and overcome the enemies of Russia may arise, but at present none know where to look for him.

GREATER EFFORT NEEDED.

The complete collapse of the Russian government is undeniably a disappointment to the allied countries. They have long been prepared to discount the possibility of a movement for a separate peace between Russia and the central powers. They have planned to meet any new military exigencies that may result from Russia's complete military and political downfall. But at the same time they had clung to the hope that Russia would grow stronger and in the course of one or two years be able to re-establish a strong line of defense on the eastern front.

That would have promised an earlier end to the war. Now the allied governments must be prepared to fight the enemy on the western, the Italian, Balkan and Asiatic fronts. The fight will ultimately be won on these lines, but it will take longer.

In Italy the present situation is profoundly grave. It would be idle to view it in any other light. The Austro-Germans have driven the Italians from the greater part of the territory the latter had won since August, 1916, at a cost of perhaps a half million men. This notwithstanding that the Italians were in possession of mountainous terrain of magnificent defensive advantages.

These events—in Russia and Italy—while temporarily a setback to the allied military goals, are not discouraging, nor do they constitute causes of discouragement. They do, however, impress upon all those outside of government and military circles the serious and tremendous task ahead. Not the least of their effects will be the halting of the movement for internal reform in Germany and the stiffening of the Prussian junker, thereby prolonging the war.

Plainly, all nations fighting for their defense against the Prussian government of assassins must work hard and move quickly.

MORE FREEDOM IN YOSEMITE.

The Secretary of the Interior has decided to permit the motorcycle to enter the Yosemite National Park. It should have been equally favored with the automobile when the latter was admitted to the reservation, but on the ground that the grades on several of the hills were dangerous and the sufficiency of horse-drawn vehicles it was barred for a while.

Much can reasonably be said against the motorcycle in the Yosemite. It is annoying and somewhat dangerous. It will add to the confusion that motorists have introduced to the formerly quiet and peaceful roads of the valley. But the automobile was properly permitted to enter the park because it made the enjoyment and the benefits of the Yosemite available to a greater number of citizens and the opportunity to visit the great national playground and sojourn in it with less cost than formerly. This being so, it was an unfair discrimination against the motorcyclists to forbid them to bring their machines into the park. So, while the great body of summer vacationists will perhaps lament the appearance of the motorcycle, they will approve the idea that the national park should be open to all on equal terms and privileges.

In removing the ban against the motorcycle Secretary Lane may have had in mind the evils that result from favoritism. Doubtless he had the reports of many who observed the unfortunate situation that resulted last summer from placing the control of the Yosemite and its use by vacationists into the hands of one concessionaire and his agents. If matters are not improved next year the Department of the Interior will have to consider other changes in Yosemite.

The statement of Prof. C. H. Rieber of the University of California, before a gathering of the male students, that "women are a hindrance because the innate courtesy of the men forces them to give way if any competition arises," indicates a somewhat peculiar view of courtesy and recognizes that there are times when its exhibition may be omitted. The statement itself is a curious record of an individual having gone through the form of showing courtesy and then complaining about it afterward. It marks a spectacle, providing Prof. Rieber's view is approved by his hearers, of individual cowards grown bold when herded together. One may well inquire whether courtesy that suffers such reaction is "innate," and wonder whether masculine minds that yield to such petty considerations are handicapped in their student records by unfavorable seats in the recitation room or by inherent mental incapacity.

A five million dollar fire loss of war material at Baltimore has been definitely charged to incendiary causes. The government has found that a quantity of vaccine for the inoculation of the soldiers has been poisoned with tetanus germs. This was the news Wednesday. Taken in connection with the numerous explosions, the burning of cattle in the Kansas City stockyards, the spreading of disease among live stock in Hawaii, and numerous other crimes which have been directly connected with the German general staff and "diplomatic corps," it does not insure that the sentiment against punitive indemnities will last indefinitely.

The countries of the world which have not entered the war or severed relations with one or more of the belligerent powers are Greenland, Iceland, Argentina, Chile, Colombia, Venezuela, Mexico, Norway, Sweden, Holland, Denmark, Spain and Abyssinia. It is easier thus to describe the condition of the earth than to name the nations involved in war.

A GREAT STORE OF GOLD.

Never in the world's history has there been such a quantity of gold under one roof as is stored today in the United States Sub-Treasury in Wall street. A corridor to the basement through which little iron shield trucks used to roll, has been shut off by steel gates and the gold stacked up for all the world like bricks awaiting the mason's hand. The frontier presses against the gates. In that one pile is 1,500 tons of pure gold, much of it representing British coins sent here in payment of war supplies and melted down in the furnaces of the assay office next door. Each brick is worth approximately $5000, and the pile is valued at considerable more than $500,000,000. In a neighboring vault are 6,000,000 silver dollars, and overhead so many gold certificates that a miser, allowed to run them through his fingers, might easily die of ecstasy before he had finished with the yellow certificates contained in a single one of the many steel chambers.—New York Times.

NOTES and COMMENT

Washington news is to the effect that the farmers of the country are so prosperous that they are indifferent to federal farm loans. A couple of years back they were clamoring for money through that agency. Now they are represented to be making so much that they have money to loan, if not to burn. The farmer had been waiting for this for a long time, however.

The definite slump of Russia would be important if she had been holding up her end at any time for the past two years. As it is, no immediate assistance is to be counted on from her, and it is generally an advantage to know exactly what you are up against.

The news is wired out from Washington that a 13-cent postage stamp is to be issued. Every day there is a new surprise on account of this war and the exigencies which it entails.

A despatch from the national capital states that the President will issue a proclamation placing bakers under a license, thus controlling the price of bread. The difficulty of placing milk in the same category is because milk dealers cannot be classed as manufacturers. There is a distinction here that amounts to too much of a difference.

We have been so used to hearing the results in Philadelphia and Pennsylvania attributed to Penrose, and before his time to Quay, that a new name in that connection is noticeable. In the city the new name is Vane—two brothers who were expected to get in position to challenge Penrose, but who won out by such a close shave that they appear to have small reserve for the future.

This country now has more than two million men under arms. That is an army that will produce results when it gets shaped up and is put on the firing line. The handicap is the period of military instruction that is necessary because of the absence of any previous training that qualifies for such an emergency. That is now likely to be rectified.

The Searchlight voices Redding's unwelcome of the penny: "To the disgust of Redding folk the dirty, contemptible penny has forced itself upon our community and it looks like for keeps. It is indeed a most unwelcome guest and we hate it with a deep and deadly hate."

Gastric suggestion from the Marysville Appeal: "Considering food conditions this year it is suggested that on Thanksgiving Day everyone eat only twice as much as he ought to eat."

Ohio had no general reputation that way, and the vote on booze was a mild surprise.

San Jose went dry and the Mercury-Herald works its adding machine: "This explains it: The dry vote was 6214, which added is 13—unlucky for the wets. The total wet vote was 4667, which added is 23—'skiddoo' for the saloons. And finally the dry majority was 1547—added is 17, date of the passing of the saloons in San Jose."

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

It is announced that the American Bible Society is to send a million copies of the Scriptures to the American soldiers who will man the trenches in France. The Bibles are to be bound in khaki—an appropriate military dress. For the Bible is by no means a pacifist publication. Jehovah is a God of battle. Moreover, there is expressed all through the writings of the grand old prophets—the reformers and progressives of their day—a burning sense of wrongs and a demand for retributive justice. There is nothing mollycoddling in the Bible; unfortunately, too much of its language has been fined into something very like it, though, by soft-pedaled interpretation.—Fresno Republican.

One reason why we liked Mr. Wu so well when he was here as ambassador from China was his never failing supply of genial humor. Viscount Ishihara has made friends from coast to coast in much the same way. His definition of our Monroe doctrine, given at the St. Regis banquet, carried a smile across the country. "I understand it to mean," he said, "that you refuse to allow anybody to pick your neighbors but yourselves."—Santa Rosa Republican.

The California Fish and Game Commission has sent 150,000 steelhead trout to Game Warden Iloen of San Rafael and they have been distributed as follows: 15 cans in Egan and Little Carson; 15 cans in Papermill creek; 15 cans in Lake Lagunitas, and 15 cans in Phoenix Lake in Bill Williams' Gulch.—San Rafael Independent.

American tourists in Europe have diminished in numbers from about 250,000 in 1913 to 66,000 in 1915, and much less in 1916. It is estimated that before the war American tourists were spending on an average $500,000,000 a season for foreign travel. Now much of this money is being spent in southern California and other interesting parts of our own country.—Avalon Islander.

It remained for the creative mind of a feminine camper to develop a new job in the bean fields above Knights Landing that is paying her from $10 to $12 per day. Her husband and brother, both of whom are also strangers to the bean growers, are likewise earning similar sums gathering the beans left in the fields' worth of beans are lost because the pickups on the big engines are not perfect enough to gather the entire crop. The necessity of developing this country's resources to the very limit prompts the idea that much "floorvoting" can be done in the bean fields.—Woodland Democrat.

FOREWARNED

Ah, spirit bold, to do and dare, to fling the bridle-reins in air,
To love the clip of living feet and face the dash of driven sleet,
To race the red sun in his course and buck the wrathful tempest's force,
Ah, splendid soul, who would not ride, forelock to forelock at thy side
And joy to see the genii swarm when cracks the rippling thunder-storm?
Hold hard, hold hard, O heart sore tried, lest o'er the brink you rockless ride!
Firm hand upon your bridle-rein, hold hard against the plunging strain
When foam-spume flies from couriers checked, nor ride to goal too lightly recked.
CLAUDIUS THAYER.

A MARYLAND POLITICAL NOTE.

The bosses are ready to hand out the party trench gas, and indications point to success only for those candidates who have gas masks and who know how to make use of political camouflage. What with the annexation mixup and the attitude of the city and county bosses, slate fixing and all the rest of it, it looks very much as if the coming election will be a catch-as-catch-can affair.—Emmitsburg Chronicle.

BOOM! NOT ENEMY, BUT GAS BOMB!

Boom! Boom! Boom! This sound, which is supposed to be what an explosion looks like in print, waked everybody and his wife in the bay district at an early hour this morning. Whereupon everybody and his wife sat up in their little trundle beds and shouted "Germans!"

"They were wrong," it was only a Pacific Gas and Electric Company's gas bomb, which exploded over the plant at the foot of Grove street. Gas bomb? Certainly. One goes off every ten minutes all day and night. In daylight it looks like a cloud of smoke. At night, when the air is right, sometimes it pops loudly. It is part of the process of making gas and amounts to nothing.

Somebody was careless enough to ask local manager Frank Leach Jr., what caused it. Now they are sorry. They got a technical explanation which was worse than the explosion. Said Leach:

"When the lid on the vacuum is opened to let the coal tar effluvia, the diaphanous effluvia from the waste-gas may-calls-it, bends in, and this produces a syncope counter-excitation in the adenoids. This lets in the oxygen, and prevents the non de plume from combining with the pluribus unum! That's all there is to it."

It sounds all right, whatever it means. Anyhow, Oakland citizens can sleep better for knowing that midnight explosions, which have been stirring them up, are Frank Leach's gas bombs trying to Hooverize on oxygen.

Says Daughter Is Not Truthful Mrs. Helen Gleason Faces Prison 'Miriam Made Up Story,' She Says

"I do not know how I feel toward Miriam," said Mrs. Helen Gleason today in the county jail, where she awaits sentence on conviction last night by her daughter's unsupported testimony of the shooting of her husband by a German spy.

"She did not tell the truth and I hope she will live to realize it and make amends. The only way I can account for it is that some one put the story into her head, or else she made it up out of some things she saw in the moving pictures or read in some book. She always read too much and she always made up stories."

"She would come home from school and tell me that she had skipped a grade when she hadn't, and she always was telling me tales about things at school that I knew were not true. But they were harmless tales and I paid no attention to them. She would take the last pickle in the house to go to a picture show and she was always talking about Thea Barra."

"Why she would turn on me now I can't make out, for I worked to support her when her father wouldn't. I worked two years at J. C. Bradbury's grocery at Twenty-fifth and Telegraph, and supported her and her brother, and sometimes her father. Mr. Bradbury will give me recommendations, and he has been to see me here. I worked at Gribble's grocery on Walworth avenue, and other places, to support them."

GIRL ON PROBATION.

With apparent reluctance she told that Miriam was last January placed on probation for leaving her home to go, as she said, to see her father when, in fact, her mother said, she went to the Golden West Annex on Seventh street, to see a roomer and Franklin street offices of the firm. Several carloads of steel have arrived, and the workmen are busy shaping the girders for the work, while the foundation of the annex is being fast completed. Several cars of steel, expected from the East, have not yet arrived and efforts are being made to trace them. The present car shortage is held responsible.

FIVE TRAPPED IN FLAMES IN BURNING HULL

Five men had a narrow escape from death by suffocation in a fire of mysterious origin which broke out shortly before 5 o'clock this morning in the forward compartment of hull No. 150 of a steel vessel under construction at the plant of the Union Iron Works in Alameda. The men were trapped in the lower tier of the vessel and were rescued by firemen with smoke helmets.

Officials of the company are investigating to determine what caused the blaze. The men were a crew of the night shift and had been working on the hull all night. The entrance to the lower tier is through a small hole that will not permit the passage of a man over average size. Those in the forward compartment had no intimation of the fire until men working above caught sight of the smoke issuing from the hole.

The alarm was sounded and the Alameda Oakland departments rushed to the scene. Firemen, equipped with smoke helmets, worked their way to the lower tier and aided in getting out the five men working in the forward compartment. Two of them were taken out feet first. The rest were hoisted to places of safety with difficulty. All were revived, and little the worse for their experience, and soon returned to work.

Investigation disclosed the fact that the fire started in a pile of sacking, the origin of which is a matter of speculation.

VIGILANTES WILL WATCH ALIEN FOES

Following widespread damage among local factories through hostile agents having placed ground emery in bearings and otherwise damaging machinery, plans are being made by the manufacturers' bureau of the Chamber of Commerce for the formation of a "vigilance committee" to direct detective work and operate a secret service to apprehend the criminals.

The plan was started last night by V. K. Sturges, Oakland tire manufacturer, who reported that serious damage has been done through unknown meddles tampering with machinery in Oakland plants and thus halting work on war munitions.

"I know of a particular case," he declared, "where ground emery was placed in the bearings of a generator, ruining it for a considerable time. This was an inside job—done presumably by a workman."

Sturges declared that under the present system of operation it is impossible to trace the criminals and that a vigilance committee or detective system of some kind is necessary. Chairman John Miller will appoint committees to take up the matter and formulate a course of action. The manufacturers blame alien enemies for the damage.

President Miller last night appointed the following committees:

Executive Committee—Joseph Christosomo Jr., chairman; R. H. Marchant, vice-chairman; L. H. Lewars, D. J. Hanlon, E. J. Fitzgerald.

Grievance Committee—B. J. Fitzgerald.

REINDEER MEAT PUTS CRIMP IN H.C.L. PROGRAM

What's the use? What's the use? Oakland can have real meat cheap—now!

Of old, venison was a luxury, but reindeer meat must be venison, just the same as any other kind of deer meat, and there's to be plenty of that!

The Nome steamer Victoria has arrived in Seattle with twenty tons of frozen reindeer meat, Santa Claus' steed in cold storage, to take the place of Christmas turkey, ham with eggs in the morning, porterhouse steak or something else in the meat line that's dear. Deer meat is not dear—it's cheap.

Some years ago the United States government imported a herd of reindeer from Iceland to the Seward Peninsula for the Indians. Now there are vast herds, and many thousand deer are available for use should a food shortage occur. The meat is not unlike beef, and is very nutritious.

The Victoria also brought in more than a million dollars' worth of gold dust.

POLICE GET 4 CHINESE IN WILD CHASE

Boldly entering the cigar store of the Tong Wo Company at 373 Eighth street late last night, four Chinese bandits grabbed a sack containing $50 from a counter and fled from the place amidst a shrieking of police whistles and a fusillade of shots fired by four police officers who heard the commotion and rushed to the scene.

Ah Chong, Sim Kai, Wing You and Ah Choy were taken into custody and the money was recovered from a doorway into which it had been thrown during the flight.

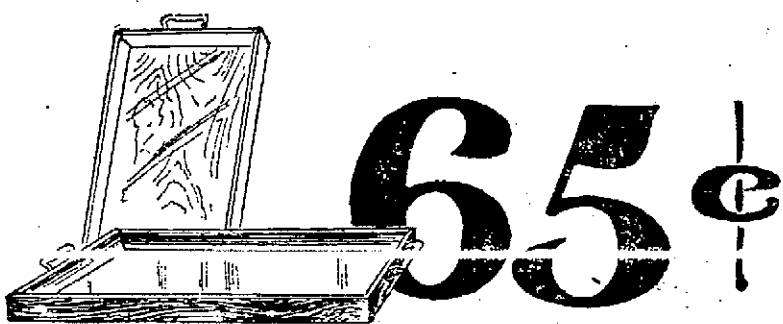

Shortly after 10 o'clock the quartet of bandits approached the entrance to the shop. One of them remained at the front door, which he kept open. Another went to a second portal and kept that open while the other two passed within and gathered the money. Then all four fled into the street.

Patrolmen G. D. Burbank, C. O. Hunt and J. T. Nathan with Special Officer Dalto responded and gave pursuit. Ah Choy, who carried the sack was cornered a block from the scene. Later the police went back and recovered the money which was scattered over the pavement.

Sim Kai is said by the police to be wanted in San Francisco for robbery. His is said to be a desperate character. The police are investigating the records of the other robbers.

Oakland High Team Is Swept Back in Opening Minutes For 8-0 Defeat

Fremont's Lightning Fast Backfield Combination Proves Deciding Factor

Fremont high school won the Alameda county rugby championship yesterday by defeating the Oakland high school team 8 to 0. Starting off with a rush that fairly carried the lighter Oakland boys off their feet, the Fremont team put over two tries in the first five minutes of play, and then held their ground safely against the frenzied playing of the Oakland boys for the remainder of the contest. Although they were held to a standstill through most of the first half after their scores, and actually outplayed during the greater part of the second half, the Fremont team dispelled all doubts as to which school turned out the best rugby team in the county this year.

The Oakland team put on the same rushing, forward game that held Berkeley to a tie last week, but the rushing tactics were not started soon enough to prevent the lightning Fremont backfield from putting over those two tries in the opening minutes. Fremont wasted no time in getting under way, and it was barely three minutes after the start when Ed Dearborne, Fremont's star second five, plunged over with the ball. The conversion was tried at a very bad angle, and "Wop" Anderson missed. Oakland hardly got the ball out of danger after the Johnny Parker, who went over from about the five-yard line, had no trouble in getting over the conversion.

The game brought out some pretty kicking by men of both sides, several boots to touch netting over thirty yards. In the kicking department Thompson and McDonald worked well for Oakland, especially in the second half. For Fremont, Tait and Parker made some pretty kicks. The best shot of the day was made by Francis Wilson, Fremont front ranker, who booted the ball from Fremont's twenty-yard line to touch ten yards past the center of the field and got Fremont out of a bad hole.

On the scrum plays, honors were fairly even, Fremont getting the ball more often at the start, but Oakland evening up the count in the second half. On the lineouts Oakland had a decided advantage except on a few plays when "Red" Roberts of Fremont did some pretty work. Fremont rushed the ball into Oakland territory right at the start of the game, but Kicks by McDonald twice forced it out to the center of the field.

Six Teams Left in Rugby Title Play

The rugby championship of California now stands between six teams. Tomorrow San Jose and San Mateo meet to settle which one will meet Fremont high school next week. At the same time the Napa and Hitchcock teams will play for the honor of meeting Lick-Wilmerding, champions of San Francisco. The probable outcome will be Fremont and Lick-Wilmerding in the finals two weeks from tomorrow for the championship of the state. These two teams met early in the season for a 3-to-3 tie game, but Coach Blesse of Fremont is confident that his boys will be able to defeat the San Francisco champions in the return contest.

territory right at the start of the game, but Kicks by McDonald twice forced it out to the center of the field. "Red" Roberts broke through for thirty yards and the first Fremont advantage was scored in the Fremont backfield. Tait kicked the ball toward the goal. Smith, of Oakland, fumbled and the ball was recovered in the Fremont backfield, where a series of passes put it in Dearborne's hands for a try. After the conversion, Oakland kicked to touch and on the lineout Lenton received the ball from the forwards and started a series of passes. The ball was then passed to the center of the field and got Fremont out of a bad hole.

After the kick Fremont again started in speedy fashion, and had Oakland in danger a couple of times before the ball was white packed on the ball in true Oakland style. In the next few minutes Oakland and Fremont traded blows, but the advantage gained mainly in the lineouts had the ball pass the center of the field. Although Fremont still threatened to score, the game was gradually becoming more even, and several times Oakland had Fremont fighting hard to keep the ball out.

The Fremont backfield began to fumble the ball badly about the middle of the first half, and lost several chances. One passing rush which netted twenty-five yards, the Fremont boys were well on their way to a try when Johnny Parker fumbled. Tait recovered the ball and made a long kick, but failed to find touch before it crossed the goal line. Oakland booted out and held Fremont safe for the remainder of the half.

Oakland's only chance to score came soon after the second half started, when McDonald booted the ball on the twenty-five-yard line. He tried a place kick from thirty yards, but failed. After the miss, but again fumbled with a passing rush, the ball was back in the Fremont backfield. A good boot by Larry of Oakland put the ball out of danger. Although Oakland had the ball in Fremont territory most of the half, there was little threat made by the losers to score. The ball rarely got inside Fremont's twenty-yard line, and Oakland did not have the backfield work that is necessary for a try. Although the forwards were going well, most of their ground was gained by dribbling, and they were not able to pick up the ball and make any progress.

About the middle of the second half Fremont did get a chance and a good one. But after carrying the ball to Oakland's five-yard line and getting the ball cleanly passed to the center of the field, the ball was fumbled back for a loss. The ball was finally dribbled over the line after a fumble, and a free kick was taken out of trouble. Another fumble by the forwards was spoiled by a great play in which Blooming of Oakland made a long pass back to McDonald, and the latter kicked to touch and to safety.

BOTH SIDES REFUSE TO QUIT. A series of lineouts near the center of the contest gave Oakland an advantage, but Fremont's passing rush got the ball back into Oakland territory as the game was called. Both sides fought gamely at the end, and only after two minutes of fierce play, during which the ball once more crossed the goal line, did the game finally get out of the field by accident.

The lineup: FREMONT. McGregor.....Front Rank.....Roberts. Mills.....Half Back.....Wilson. Bloomheart.....Lock.....Bibby. Nook.....Break.....Bibby. Larkey.....Four Rank.....Anderson. Oliver.....Four Rank.....Anderson. Burnee.....Rear Rank.....Austin. Witter.....Wing Forward.....Brophy. Thompson.....Half Back.....Denton. Chapin.....First Five.....Pace. McNeil.....Second Five.....Dearborn. Barnard.....Center Three.....Tait. Lenton.....Wing.....T. Parker. Smith.....Fullback.....J. Mason. Hemminger substituted for Brittingham.

FREMONT VS. STANFORD BABES. Fremont high school will meet the Stanford freshmen Saturday on the Stanford campus. The Cardinal boys have a great team this year, and Blesse considers that his boys should get a lot of experience out of the contest. Further, Blesse thinks his lads even have a chance to put over a win, if they work the way they did against Berkeley.

Hawaiian Swimmers May Invade Coast

There is possibility that a team of Hawaiian swimmers will be sent to this country next spring to compete in the various meets. The plan was recently endorsed at a meeting of the Hawaiian swimming association, and it is estimated that $2000 will be required to defray expenses. The clubs around the bay would be glad to accept any plan to bring the islanders here for a series of contests.

Bill Prough Will Pitch For Crockett on Sunday

Blankenship Adds Heister to Maryland Club; Big Reception Is Planned

By Carl E. Brazier

Crockett is a regular town! That's the answer to the way the baseball boosters are responding to the appeal for preparations for the opening of the Winter League season next Sunday. Last night brought word that the Crockett team has signed up Bill Prough, Oakland League pitcher, to pitch on Sunday against the Maryland Bowlers Sunday. Not content with that, Crockett is getting ready to give the visiting ball players and their friends the time of their lives.

Cliff Blankenship, manager of the Maryland Club, is planning a big reception for Crockett on Sunday. Blankenship is getting ready to do his part on the entertainment committee. Blankenship will take his players to Crockett in machines, and with the number of fans who have said they would accompany his club, there should be quite a delegation.

GIVE TRIBUTE TO CREDIT. Truly Crockett is on the map. A Pittsburg paper recently gave The TRIBUNE credit for being the only paper around the bay which knew that Pittsburg was on the map. That was after The TRIBUNE had reported that Pittsburg was the Winter League baseball circuit. Crockett came into the league largely on The TRIBUNE's suggestion, and now Crockett is coming through in good shape and promising Pittsburg a keen rivalry for some time to come.

With the outside towns coming through in great shape and with the Oakland and Alameda clubs signing up players who figure to put up a last brand of ball, looks like a great season for the winter league. And then, on top of the good season will come the winter league of the winter baseball championship of the coast between the winner of the local league and the winner of a league now formed in southern California. The TRIBUNE is going ahead with plans for this post-season series during the latter part of the season. The other game, at Los Angeles and two in Oakland and more games to follow at such other places as may be chosen, the players are already figuring that there will be a nice

Picks Ducks to Lighten Car Up To Hubs in Mud

Louis Busick Tries to Alibi Himself for Birds Just Like the Farmers Have.

When Louis Busick and Ted Ottman go duck hunting something funny always happens. Last week they took Cliff Blankenship and the boys came back with four ducks and four ducks dressed them around. Yesterday they went out with Fred Brown, the boy who messes the car, and back they came with something funny happened. The boys came back with seven ducks already picked and dressed. When they were called for, the boys back dressed ducks they immediately manufactured this alibi: Ted Ottman's car went in the mud, and Louis set back in the mud, and the feathers of the birds, thinking perhaps the boys were going to make it easier to move the car.

The boys all tell different stories as to how many birds were brought back, and what happened to them. Louis insists that they brought fifty-two birds, but some of them were lost when the car went into the mud. Brown and Ottman say that they gave away ten birds on the way home, but all that they could show for a balance was seven birds—all picked. Just the way some tidy farmer's housewife might have the birds for a dinner. And they do say that those farmers can be persuaded to part with their birds, too.

But outside of going into the mud, breaking the birds and trying to shoot a seagull from a trestle, and waiting around all day for the night shoot out to get four birds, it was an uneventful day.

Season Just Closed Was Best in Coast Swimming History

The greatest swimming season in the history of the Pacific coast, has just closed. It began at Honolulu in February when Miss Fannie Durack, the fleetest swimmer in the world, broke her own world mark in the 100 and the 200, and ended in Oakland in October when Miss Claire Galligan of New York broke seven birds. In the following month, Duke Kanahua, a local swimmer, broke up two birds in the 100 and the 200. In the 100 and the 200 in Detroit, the respective times being 1:16.1 and 3:05.5. Women of New York are trying to organize a golf club for women only. This is not to be further from the golf courses as might appear at first glance, but mostly because the golf clubs generally exclude women. The links over to the men on Saturdays and Sundays.

ALAMEDA MOOSE WIN. The Alameda bowling team was given a setback last night when the Alameda Moose defeated them with a shut-out by slamming them two games in succession.

Both teams were bowling badly as neither came anywhere near the average. Blame the weather. There was only one 200 mark made, and it was made by Hoffman, 212, with the fine number beyond the 200.

The next game, which will be played at the Auditorium, will be between the Auditors and S. P. Stores.

Trapshooters Name Interstate Officers

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The annual meeting of the Interstate Trapshooting Association, which controls all the organized trapshooting contests in the United States, was begun here yesterday.

It doesn't seem long since Charley "Red" Doon was one of the big league baseball's most popular figures and one of its best players as well, but time passed and now Doon is unable to hold a fair job in semi-pro baseball. He was released recently by a semi-pro team playing the ground Philadelphia for his inability to hit. In 1911 Charley hit .328 for the Phillies, but his hitting thereafter was never any too heavy, though he was one of the best backstops in fast company. If worse comes to worst "Red" can always earn a living singing, as he has the easiest voice to listen to as he plays. You could mention and made a fair hit in vaudeville some seasons ago.

Marsh Points At Lower Bay Best Hunting

Duck Hunters Still Living in Hopes for Days When the Rains Set In.

Although the rain that has fallen this week is a boon to duck hunters, a lot more of the same is needed before the real duck hunting will begin. The only bay shooting that is at all promising at present is that around Mount Eden and other lower bay marsh points. Here the hunters are getting for results since the rain started. The real bay shooting, however, is not expected for a couple of weeks even if the rainy weather should continue. Hunters are busy in preparation these days rather than in duck hunting. Realizing that the best sport is yet to come, the old-timers are fixing up blinds and boats preparatory to the opening of the duck hunting which is expected in the bay soon.

A few lonely ducks are already wandering into bay waters. Some hunters have been out near the Key Route basin and others have taken a crack at San Pablo bay.

Griley and Collins, sections are still furnishing the biggest bags, but the ducks have been kept pretty well on the wing lately and are none too fat. Not many limits are being taken outside the preserves, except by those who know where to pick up wounded ducks along the marsh edges. Los Bamos, Justine and Middle River have been picking up in the last few weeks, and with more rain should be good. Len Hixhurst, the famous trapshooter, left yesterday for a week at Gustine on the advice of friends who have just returned from there with good bags. Robert Tyson of Niles, one of the best duck hunters in these parts, has chosen Los Bamos this week. Pop Ariett and Rocky Middleton got nineteen ducks and thirteen geese at Griley. Today the same pair, with Billy Lane, will try bass fishing at Martinez. Some big bass have been taken in that vicinity since the rain, and many will take advantage of next Sunday to cast their lines at Martinez. Ed Hideo of the Great Western Power Company has been at a gun club preserve for the past two days near Mount Eden.

Girls! Use Lemon Juice! Make This Beauty Cream

The lemon juice massage indulged in once or twice each day means a little time and trouble, girls, but what of the splendid results? A skin bleached beautifully white, a complexion with the bloom of a peach, a softening of those lines of care; in fact, a skin eloquent of nature's purity and hands white, soft and full of charm.

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove tan, freckles and blemishes; to bleach the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white this way. Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quarter pint of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one usually pays for a small jar of ordinary cold cream. Be-sure to strain the lemon juice as the pulp gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When massaged daily into the face, neck, arms and hands it should naturally help to whiten, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.

Any druggist or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents and the grocer the lemons—Advertisement.

These drugs will produce sleep, and a FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEPER FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. PIANIST SHOWS DARING ABILITY

By Ray C. B. Brown

Leo Ornstein has the quality of genius. I would say that he is a genius, were it not that the word in that connotation is a verbal coin which has lost its relish through much handling. Genius is an indefinable quality of spirit which unmistakably marks its possessor as a being apart from his fellow-humans; its manifestations vary with its potency and with the idiosyncratic variations of the media through which it works, but its presence in an individual is always patent. Leo Ornstein has that quality.

Whatever fears one may have, had that his "Wild Man's Dance" and other musical jeux d'esprit were merely the ebullitions of a talented eccentricity were vanished last night when he played his "Sonata Opus 26" and his "Poems (1917)." Therein spoke the veritable voice of a rare spirit, poetic and philosophic, compassionate with suffering and fiercely ironic toward sham.

Although the two men are antipodal in temperament, Ornstein reminds me irresistibly of Percy Grainger. These two are the pre-eminent expressions of music of the spirit of their age, and they are the only two different ones. They hold a common faith, though their creeds are at variance.

Grainger is the pioneer type, euphonic and ruddy, comradely in his welcome to all men, expansive and generous with the freshness of eternal youth, fearless in front of the unknown. He is the embodiment of the restless spirit of mankind that is ever questing, ever seeking relief in action, ever pressing forward in the van of civilization. He is the voice of democracy, the prophet of brotherhood. He is the Whitman of music.

PHILOSOPHIC TYPE. Ornstein is the philosophic type, the lonely and introspective soul, ravaged by the divine fire, weary with the round of eternal recurrence, rebellious under the perpetual yoke of injustice, fearless in his onslaughts upon the known and the conventional. His quest is ever inward, seeking relief in the conquest of self, ever probing into the enigmas of existence. He is the voice of individuality, the prophet of the apotheosis of the ego. He is the Nietzsche of music—not the misunderstood and maligned Nietzsche who is suffering today for the sins of others, but the Nietzsche loved by all who have won to his real message.

Probably there were some auditors in Wheeler Hall last night who mentally gasped at the audacity of Ornstein in playing his own sonata directly after Beethoven's Opus 26. The juxtaposition was fully justified in the event, and the young Russian composer gained rather than lost by the comparison. His sonata is a magnificent work, glowing with color and rich in content of thought, strongly individual in idiom. It is a remarkable example of the free spirit voluntarily working in bonds; it is the writer of vers libre restraining himself within the limits of a sonnet.

CONCESSION TO FORM. If there are hints of Ravel, Debussy and Scriabin in the harmonic progressions, they do not impugn the originality of the composition. Ornstein is a voice of his age, and his utterances naturally fall into the peculiar dialect of that age. The opening of the first movement is a concession to classical in phrasing for that matter, yet one could not call it a borrowing; it is a mere concession to form.

The "March Funebre" is more to my taste than the Beethoven movement of the same name. There is a deeper poignancy of suffering in it, a grief more real and present, a despair free from the suspicion of sentimentality. That is a suspicion one always entertains when listening to the romantic classicists. Ornstein is not sentimental; he has cut through that one web of illusion.

POEMS SHOW GENIUS

It was in his "Poems," however, that Ornstein gave us last night the last and most conclusive proof of his genius. They are in musical verse, a strange and tortured beauty. There is nothing in verbal verse more comparable to them in force and virility. The only composer with whom I am acquainted who approaches them is Scriabin, but I feel in Ornstein's poems a greater sincerity and meaning more worthy of study. Dissonance is the breath of their being, but from this dissonance rises a new and subtly perturbing beauty. Listening, I began to realize that there is no essential dissonance and that we are on the threshold of a new and tremendous development in tonal weaving.

Of Ornstein's readings of the classics I have not time to speak in this hurried comment. The only composer on his program with whom he did not "take liberties," as the sticklers for convention would say, was Liszt. The andante of the Beethoven sonata was given a new meaning by his rhythmic changes, and the allegro became a prestidigitator. His reading of Chopin's B major nocturne and A flat major waltz was infused with a physical languor that I have long watched for in vain. It was a genuine Chopinesque mood, effected by an excessive rubato in combination with a moribund pianissimo.

Ornstein is a giant spirit in a frail body and his appearance is that of one worn by a compelling energy. His genius will march as long as his strength endures, and the danger that faces him is that of being consumed by the fierceness of his unquenchable fire.

FERRABINI SHINES IN POPULAR OPERA

By Harry L. Sully.

"Carmen"—Gay as the French are gay, going back as the greatest of French writers have always gone back, to the very rock of the soil to make its passion, its jealousy, its gaiety direct, personal, universal—"Carmen" was sung and acted at the Macdonough last night as it should be given, happily, and with a certain naive carelessness that made one overlook the laws, and rejoice in the beauties.

"Carmen" is a yardstick for opera companies, as the heroine is a measure of women singers whose voices come within its scope. Almost any good average Italian or French opera company can compass "Carmen." Almost any good actress singer at all suitable for the part can do something with the heroine. It remains for the great artists to carry it to the higher reaches. There are various and sundry wonders that can be performed with this story and score. And it is susceptible of wonderful slaughtering.

SPLENDID TEAM WORK. The La Scala company happily wended its way through the Bizet music and the Meyerling plot, giving itself wholeheartedly to the work, and achieving a well-rounded and thoroughly enjoyable production. It was remarkable rather for its splendid team work than for the high lights of stellar flash and glitter. It was a mounting production, growing steadily better through the acts, and achieving a climactic fourth act that left nothing to be desired, that left the audience enthusiastically applauding the singers and passing from the theater with grateful memories to add to the souvenirs of old opera days.

Four essentials of excellence in this opera were there—A Carmen and Don Jose who can sing and act, an orchestra adequate to its work and inspired by the keen and fiery leadership of Guerrieri, and a chorus able to sing.

This chorus might fall in a beauty contest. But one must listen attentively through an opera score to hear any of them singing off key, or to find any choir failing to come in on an attack in its proper place. The male members are as evil a set of brigands as one would want to meet on the Mexican border. One has no doubt that they would smuggle anything from opium to trinkets past the coast guard, or slit his throat if he interfered. But they can sing. And so can the girls, as witness the whirling smoke chorus, with its interweaving strains.

ROLE FITS FERRABINI

Ester Ferrabini, she of the beautiful eyes, comes into her own right in Carmen. I do not wish to take away from the joys of those who will see her in "Thais." But the fact is that she is better suited to Carmen than to either Thais or Floria Tosca, two roles she essayed across the bay. The role better fits the measure of her voice and her acting. One finds a certain disparity of temperament between Thais and Carmen, a disparity difficult to bridge in one actress.

Ferrabini puts the essential devil of independence, a French and Gypsy devil, into her Carmen. She does not supersexualize Carmen, a fault of many an actress-singer. Neither does she refine and sweeten the role and remove all sensuality from it. Her reading is a nice balance of the warring interpretations. She is wanton, sensual, gay—with just a touch, perhaps, of over-experience tending to picture a slight dissoluteness on the part of the Merimee-Bizet gypsy that is not called for in the lines. She sang a tantalizing Seguidilla, and in the swinging duet of the lure of the mountains and freedom, following Don Jose's flower song, her voice carried all the seduction and passion of her appeal for this primitive life and love in the wild.

CARRIES CONVICTION. Giuseppe Gaudenzi has the authentic fire, color and vibrant quality in a rich tenor that leaps and changes, that softens to a refined sweetness in the Flower Song and reaches to a ringing trumpet at the close of the smashing third act. He is a big gay boy of a dragon, caught in the coils of this wanton gypsy, and betrayed to the very heart of loss in the tragic conclusion, waking the wild beast and torturing him to fury. Gaudenzi believes in his own Don Jose, and carries his conviction across the footlights. Marie Valle's Toreador was not so happy. It may be that he was not in good voice. I cannot leave this cast without expressing joy in the rich basso of Hilde Pechi, and in meeting once more the gay little Aristide Neri, who has played in almost every traveling opera company that has struck the bay region since 1903.

The curtain falls, the Carmen motif, tortured and interwoven with the death motif, dies away. Silhouetted against the curtain is the keen profile of Guerrieri, holding his orchestra to the last note, the central brain of this web of sound, its intelligence and the vortex of its fire—the symbol of the magic and mystery of the art of music.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER IS STILL PUZZLE

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 8.—The mystery surrounding the murder of Dr. Harry Lorenz Chapin, physician, author and traveler, by an unidentified assailant in a room at a downtown hotel last night remained unsolved today, although officers were issued from police headquarters for the arrest of a man who was known to have been in Cleveland yesterday. The skull was fractured by a blow on the back of the head, and according to Coroner Byrne, the fact that the skull was not cut suggested that the doctor was struck from behind.

with a heavy weapon, probably a section of lead pipe or a paper weight wrapped in a handkerchief. Mrs. Chapin, the widow, told the police that her husband went to the hotel yesterday afternoon to meet a man who recently came from Chicago, with whom he had had business dealings in the past. Shreds of paper found on the floor of the room, when picked together, were found to relate to an express package shipped to Cleveland by a man in Chicago, and which, the police believe, was to be delivered to Dr. Chapin on payment of $100. On the piece-together scraps of paper the police discovered the name of a man for whom search immediately was instituted. Dr. Chapin, known to a wide circle of friends as "the blind doctor," had been blinded by the glare of desert sands when shortly after leaving college he visited the ruins of Babylon. Later an operation partially restored the sight. He had written several books. "Twilight and Death" is the theme of one of the poems featured in his last published work. This poem, entitled "The Soul of the Sun," contains such seemingly prophetic stanzas as these: "Death takes me away as he finds me. Time loomed—I am to pay on demand."

WEINBERG'S TRIAL NEAR CONCLUSION

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—The State practically completed its case against Israel Weinberg, charged with conspiracy in the preparedness parade day explosion at noon, a recess being taken until Monday to permit Judge Emmet Seawell to determine whether he would permit the state to read the conspiracy testimony of the former trials into the records. "The conspiracy witnesses were testified for the State today were James McDougall, 14 years old, 1278 Claremont, who identified a large light brown suit case as standing on the sidewalk at Stewart and Market just before the parade started. M. R. Stadler of Oakland, general agent of the Northwestern Pacific, testified that he was in the Grand Army division of the parade and saw a suit case standing at the scene of the explosion and was going over to sit down on it, but it occurred to him he wouldn't care to have his own property so treated and moved further down Stewart street and was sitting on a bench when the explosion occurred. Mrs. Eleanor Kennedy of Oakland, who was slightly injured and whose son and sister, Mrs. Paul Seamon, were more seriously injured in the explosion, had her testimony in former trials read into the record. John McDonald, one of the State's star witnesses, out in whose testimony there had been found various discrepancies in the previous trials, stood on his grand jury testimony this morning which was a distinct victory for the defense. This testimony had Billings leave Mooney at 1:38 p. m. walk into Market street through the parade and toward the ferry, and had Mooney walk into the saloon, after Billings left him, then come out and walk toward Drumm, while he, McDonald, walked toward the Alameda cafe when the explosion occurred. The defense has photographs showing Mooney and his wife on top of the Eilers' building, 6900 feet west of Stewart and Market, at 1:54 p. m.

BAHAI FETE DAY

The 100th anniversary of the birth of Baha'ullah, the great teacher of the Bahai movement, will be celebrated on Monday, November 12, throughout the world wherever Bahai Assemblies have been organized. The celebration will be held in the home of Mrs. Edwin Goodall, 1237 Jackson street, beginning at 6 o'clock in the evening. Baha'is from the Bay cities will attend, and their friends are cordially invited to be present. The Bahai cause is not an organization. It is a movement wherein are found the teachings of all religions and scriptures—Christians, Jewish, Mohammedan, Buddhist, Zoroastrian, Theosophist, Spiritualist. The movement had its origin in Persia in 1844, when Baha began his teachings. After six years of persecution and imprisonment he was shot at Tabriz. After his death, Hosen Ali, a Persian noble, now known as Baha'ullah, led forward the movement.

DAVIE HARKS BACK TO HIS BUTCHER DAY

Most of the time when he was in the retail butcher business in Oakland and to his troubles with the wholesalers, Mayor John L. Davie last night addressed a meeting of the retail butchers of Alameda county at Odd Fellows' Hall, and told some of the reasons for the betterment of the market business. Among those was the promise to create, before he left office, an "eternal monument" to himself in the form of a municipal auditor to be erected on reclaimed tidelands on San Leandro bay.

Mayor Davie explained that he might have made his dream a reality this year, and that he had caused $75,000 to be set aside in the budget to this end, but that the need of dredging for the Union Construction Company's proposed lease on the Key Route Basin had eaten into this fund, and the auditor, immense stockyards and cold storage plants, all owned and operated by the city at an immense cost, and consequent reduction in taxes, together with a swimming concession and bathing beach on Lake Merritt, and various other municipally owned and operated enterprises, would have to be put off to some unnamed date in the future.

PROVISED IN FUTURE.
"We'll have this before I leave office," proclaimed the mayor.
Professor D. W. Morgan of the Agricultural College of the State University, apparently concluded that the mayor would administer affairs in Oakland for a long time. He said he saw the prospect of a municipal plant of this kind in the "dim, distant future."

Major Davie painted a paradise for the retailers, consumers and producers of meat, unhampered by the "merciless big four," coming between the retailer and the producer. The city plan he declared, would remedy conditions.
From telling of the troubles of the retailer, and the remedy that might have been, the mayor launched into an anti-recall talk repeating his attack upon the corporations, and declaring himself to be the champion of the people, the "sturdy oak," which has weathered many storms. He said he could make a good fight now because of the beefsteaks he ate when he was young.

MORGAN BLAMES PACKERS.
Professor Morgan gave it as his opinion that a meatless day will be found absolutely necessary, and that the discouragement of the meat producers at the hands of the packers is the cause of the meat shortage.
He said that the price for beef on the hoof is only one and a fourth cents higher now than the price for the same beef ten years ago, in spite of the tremendous increase to the consumer. He said that hundreds of farmers in California have gone out of the business of growing meat stock because of the practical method of the packers. Thirty-three million head of breeding stock have been killed during the last year in the allied countries over and above the normal supply. He declared that if we are to remain a meat-consuming nation we will have to co-operate to overthrow the middle men in the business, who are piling up enormous profits.

Ten years ago the average consumption of meat per man in the country was 248 pounds, whereas at the present time it is only 207 pounds, he said.
FISH MEN PROTEST.
State Market Director Harris S. Weinstein spoke on the subject of fish, apparently a moot question with the butchers, for after he finished he was deluged with questions as to phases of the market regulations. The fish dealers present protested to him that their share of the consumer's dollar did not leave them a safe margin of profit. They complained that they lose money over and above the price allowed to charge on account of the loss in cleaning and delivering. Weinstein explained that the retailer gets 40 cents of the consumer's dol-

Dutton Lauds Suffrage Victory Clubwomen Hear Candidates Recall Opponents Meet at Hotel

Civic workers and club women heard the four candidates in the mayoral recall fight this afternoon at a meeting at the Hotel Oakland held under the auspices of the Oakland Center of the California Civic League. It was the first time Mayor John L. Davie and his four opponents, David C. Dutton, Anson B. Weeks and John C. Taylor, had come together on one platform to discuss the issues in the recall election to be held December 4. Each was given a limited time in which to state his position and the four-cornered debate was followed by a talk in behalf of Mayor Davie and the current municipal budget by Commissioner W. H. Edwards. Mrs. J. M. Burroughs presided.

Dutton spoke in part as follows: "The great victory achieved for equal suffrage in New York last Tuesday is another proof of the recognized place that women are rightfully taking as citizens of this democracy and I heartily congratulate you, the more so because our own golden state took this step many years before its justice dawned on our backward brethren in the cultured East. Always proud am I of the fact that Californians have been able for so long to address an audience as 'fellow voters'."

WOMEN NOT RECOGNIZED.
"I will say unreservedly that in the government of Oakland the value of woman has not been sufficiently recognized. This is but proof of the fact that there is an inclination to the nation for a period of reaction, to turn back the hands of the clock. This must not be encouraged. There never has been a time in our history when women were doing so much to maintain the stability of our nation. They are needed on the battle field, they are needed in the halls of Congress, they have proved their ability to fill millions of places the world over that were previously thought to be the indisputable domain of men."
"You will notice that it is very often agreeable to recognize the value of women in what are called 'honorary positions,' which means positions where there is a lot of work but no pay. Men are very generous in giving out such appointments and in keeping the 'easy money' jobs for themselves. It is so in Oakland, but I am not particularly smitten with the justice or courtesy of such methods."

"You will notice that our streets are not nearly as clean as they used to be, that our very popular and valuable central newspaper room in connection with the tree library is closed; that the women's protective bureau has been abolished; that the municipal woodyard was shut down, and that many other alleged economies have been made. I am sure that you will notice at the same time that expenses in other branches of the city government, especially the mayor's office and the city attorney's office, have been largely increased."
"The city budget was rushed through without any opportunity being given for the public to know how its money was to be spent and in flagrant violation of a pledge given the public when the mayor first took office that the tentative budget should be prepared and printed in time for the improvement clubs to inspect it and to make recommendations. There is distrust and friction everywhere and the people of Oakland are heartily sick of it."

WEEKS OUTLINES PRINCIPLES.
Weeks spoke as follows: "In outlining the principles for which I shall stand if elected mayor of Oakland, I seem to find in view of the condition into which municipal affairs have been plunged during the present administration, to declare at the outset my unalterable opposition to the recall movement."
"The wholesaler 20 cents and the fisherman 40 cents. He said that an inventory of the stock of fish is made up every night and the price for the next day determined on the basis of supply and demand. If there is a big supply the price is low, and if the supply is short the price is high."

to any form of bossism or political chicanery.
"What it shall be my constant endeavor to bring about a harmonious condition in the Council that will make for constructive development of the city's resources and for efficient, economical government, it is my belief that there are better methods of attaining this end than the formation of a Council majority. I am opposed to combinations and shall insist that each issue that may arise be decided upon its merits."
"I believe the mayor should, and I am convinced that after a proper condition of harmony has been brought about among the heads of the various departments, he can practically perform the functions of a city manager, working in accord with all the city's employees."

"To my mind, mature consideration of and conferences with any representative body of the citizenry on all matters of import before they are finally acted upon will promulgate a constructive program by which Oakland's vast resources may be systematically developed."
Mayor Davie said:
"When I entered office in 1915 the tax rate was $1.98. Today it is $1.69, a saving of 29 cents on the dollar or 14.6 per cent."
"I am sure that you ladies are very much interested in conservation in carrying out the will of our food administrator, Mr. Hoover, and the many economies that Americans are being asked to practice in the face of these perilous times. What do you think of this economy of saving $500,000 a year? Is that not doing in public office just what you are trying to practice in your homes? It will be well, therefore, ladies, for you to ask these candidates answers to this question: Are they opposed to the economy I have effected or do they agree that it is a good thing?"

"In their search for some argument the recallers and these candidates are telling you that I am subject to a dictatorship. They will refer you to Mr. George Kaufman as a political boss. If you will investigate you will find this argument ridiculous for two reasons. First, Mr. Kaufman is a minor school teacher and a member of a board of three. I am one member of a council of five. If Mr. Kaufman is boss of the entire Civil Service Board and through me of the entire council, then the Civil Service Commission and the members of the City Council should be subject to recall as much as I. Secondly, political bosses spend their time in creating positions for friends and thereby increasing expenses. As I have already shown, we have actually paid $500,000 a year and these candidates cannot tell you of one office that we have created to make peace out of this war."
"And so with the other arguments. They appear ridiculous upon investigation and the recallers rely upon your disinterest, thinking that you will not take time to investigate and will believe all that they have to say. I have here an editorial of a prominent local newspaper dated April 27, 1915, the day of my election. This editorial compares my election to be as dangerous as reptiles or armed foes clamoring at the gates of our city. It tells how our streets will be filthy and unswept and unlighted, our schools and playgrounds closed, our city a center for immorality and all forms of vice if Davie is elected. Two years and a half have passed since that editorial, do not have to go into detail to show you how ridiculous that editorial was."

PLEADS PLATFORM.
Taylor, the Socialist candidate, read from the Socialist platform the sections opposing militarism and advocating a direct referendum by the people on the question of war. He declared that this program was neither pro-German nor disloyal to the country, but was a part of the Socialist fight for democracy. After reviewing the New York mayoralty campaign and the large vote obtained by Hillquit, the Socialist candidate, Taylor devoted some time to local issues. He said in part: "We pledge our efforts to the im-

WOMEN WILL TACKLE NEW WAR LABORS

A department created for the maintenance of existing social agencies has been inaugurated as a part of the activities of Alameda County Woman's Committee, Council of National and State Defense. Mrs. Frederick R. Taylor, chairman of the defense body, has appointed Miss Annie Florence Brown head of the new work. In discussing the tremendous task which was before her in conserving the already well established philanthropies and charities, Miss Brown says: "Local charities, to conserve themselves, and to be of assistance in the new conditions which war has thrust upon us, will not reorganize, but will accommodate themselves to the burden which is being placed upon them and will do the work in their local field in a broader and finer way. This committee will lend emphasis to the importance of the various machineries which are already in existence to meet the emergency of war. We will endeavor to put them in a position where their identity may not be lost. We will be the means of keeping them in touch with the authorities."

Each unit of the Council of Defense in Alameda county will appoint a chairman to work with Miss Brown and to carry on the work of the committee in its own city.
As a preliminary step, Miss Brown and many of those who are associated with her are registering for the course in the University of California, which opens on Monday under the direction of Dr. Jessica Peavotte and Miss Lucy Stebbins for the purpose of training leaders in home service. The lectures will be given in the Library building by leaders in various fields of social work. The subject will include: Social psychology, health, labor, unemployment, housing, cost of living, community resources, baby hygiene, etc. A practical service will be expected of those who register.

mediate acquirement by the city of the street transportation system, to the end that street car workers may have a living wage and an eight-hour day, that school children may be transported free to and from school, and that the people may receive adequate service.
"We further pledge our efforts to municipal ownership of water, gas and electric systems. We believe that the waterfront should be held by and developed in the interests of the people."
"Owing to the failure of the State Fish Commission to take over the fishing industry, we pledge ourselves to the establishment of municipal fishery and markets, municipal fruit, vegetable and produce markets, municipal milk distribution and supply, and municipal dispensaries."

The Dutton campaign has arranged the following meetings at which Dutton will speak, tonight at Danish Hall, Eleventh and Madison streets, and also at Alcatraz Theater, corner of Alcatraz and Telegraph avenues.

BETTERMENT IS BASIS FOR RATE PLEAS

That not less than $3,500,000 in permanent improvement work will be required within a short period of time to place the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal railway on a basis that will make it an attractive proposition to financiers, and that evidence to that effect is to be filed with the State Railroad Commission in substantiation of the application for a raise in rates, was the statement made by Vice-President and General Manager W. R. Alberger of the traction company in an address before the Melrose Businessmen's and Improvement Association last night.
General Manager Alberger also declared that the resettlement franchise upon which a joint committee of nineteen, representing the municipalities affected and the traction company, would be ready before February 1, and would be a model franchise when completed. Construction work in Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda and general transportation betterments, he said, had been delayed and would continue to be delayed, through the impossibility of securing materials—the direct result of war orders and supply commandeering by the government.

WAR LIMITS OUTPUT.
"The people of the West do not recognize the extent to which this war has involved the industrial life of the country," he said. "You must go back to appreciate that. I have just returned from there and it will be 1919 before we can get our feet under a great probability not then. The government has not only commandeered the resources of Eastern plants, but it has limited the output with materials already on hand."
"On October 11, at Philadelphia, I was at a dinner at which the president of the Philadelphia Traction Company asked the head of a big car manufacturing company when his concern would be prepared to deliver 250 cars for service in the city. The manufacturer's answer was: 'After the war!' Practically all steel direct connection plates used for binding rails is limited to main line railroads over which the government is transporting supplies and troops, for one instance alone."

TO GO BEFORE PEOPLE.
"On the re-settlement franchise, when the council has passed it in its final form as worked out by the joint committee, we shall go before the people for their endorsement. While the franchise has certain things in it which we would just as soon not have from a corporation viewpoint, it contains the best features of many cities and some new ones of its own that have been tried out and found by experience to be satisfactory. The work will be completed by February 1, I understand, the committee having had many meetings on the matter."

Ten Million Goal in Food Campaign Is Nearly Reached

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The food administration has come within less than a million of its ten million goal for food pledge cards. The total pledges signed by American housewives stood early today at 9,119,417, an increase of more than 280,000 over the last report given out by the campaign headquarters here.

REALTY LAW TEST.
An appeal to test the constitutionality of the state licensing law for realty dealers is to be fought out over the case of L. A. Raleigh, Oakland realty man, who after being found guilty and fined $5 in the police court of Judge Mortimer Smith has been released on a habeas corpus writ pending the testing of the new statute. The appeal was taken for Raleigh by the State Realty Association, which is fighting the case, holding that the present bonding and licensing law is illegal. The case will be heard by the supreme tribunal on December 3.
